Judge Jenkins Dies After Four Weeks' Illness

He and Popular Lawyer Succumb To Pneumonia—Complicated In Legal, Political, Civic and Business Life—Resided in Kingston Over Thirty Years—Funeral On Monday.

Judge James Jenkins, one of the leading members of the Ulster county bar and for many years active in the legal, political, civic and business life of the community, died at 55 Johnston avenue, after an illness of four weeks.

While he had been out of health practically all winter, Judge Jenkins had been able to attend to his extensive law practice and his duties as corporation counsel of Kingston until about four weeks ago, since when he had been confined to his home. Pneumonia developed and for the past few days there had been but slight hope for his recovery.

The funeral will take place from the First Reformed Dutch Church of this city, of which he was a member, on Monday afternoon at three o'clock, with interment in Wiltwyck cemetery.

The Jenkins family had long been prominent in the life of Ulster county. Judge Jenkins' grandfather was James Jenkins, who married Miss Rachel LeFevre, a direct descendant of Simon LeFevre, one of the patentees of New Paltz. They resided at what was known in those days as Kettleborough, or Paltz Plains. The judge's father was Johannes Jenkins who married a daughter of Timothy Seymour of the town of Plettskill, and they lived at Jenkinstown in the town of Plettskill, where Judge Jenkins was born.

Judge Jenkins received his early education in the county schools of the town of Plettskill and then attended the New Paltz Normal School where he was graduated with high honor.

Took Up Study of Law.

After his graduation from the Normal School he taught school for a time at Creek Locks and then decided to take up the study of law and entered the Cornell Law School where he graduated with the degree of LL. B. He began his career as a lawyer in the office of John N. Vanderhuyse, New Paltz, and later in the office of the late William Lounsbury in this city, with whom he formed a partnership which led later to his branching out for himself and opening a law office on John street.

He came to Kingston about 1896 and soon became prominent in the civic and political life of the city. He formed a law partnership with E. H. Fitch, now head of Abercrombie, Fitch & Company of New York city, which continued for a number of years; and the firm became widely known in Ulster county. Judge Jenkins due to his prominence as a member of the Ulster county bar became active in the councils of the Democratic party and was its candidate for various offices, including that of district attorney.

Served as County Judge.

At the death of County Judge Charles F. Cantine in the summer of 1912, he was appointed county judge and was elected that fall on the Democratic ticket, serving the full term of six years to January 1, 1919. As county judge he proved a fair and impartial administrator of justice. Following on the bench such a noted jurist as Judge Cantine he made good in the office, and while presiding as county judge many important cases came up for disposal and trial in his court.

After serving his term as county judge he resumed the private practice of law and by his ability and industry built up a large and lucrative practice.

Appointed Corporation Counsel.

Following the death of Corporation Counsel William D. Brinkner, Judge Jenkins was appointed corporation counsel by Mayor Morris Black, which office he held at the time of his death. As corporation counsel he did efficient work in clearing up many of the cases that had been pending against the city, and his advice and experience proved of great advantage to the city.

During the years that he had resided in Kingston and been active in the Democratic party he had served as chairman of the Democratic county committee.

In 1923 Judge Jenkins was appointed a member of Ashban Commission No. 7, which tried many important cases against the city of New York, and while a member of that commission established the law in many important matters relating to modernization of city government.

Received in Western Work.

It was while serving as county judge of Ulster county that Judge Jenkins became actively interested in reform work and he continued his active interest up to his last illness. At the time the Kingston Trust Company was formed he was very active in its organization and served as its legal counsel and as a director in the time of its death.

During the years that he had been a successful lawyer he had been a member of the bar and had been successful in establishing

Chorus Girl Dies In Hotel at Erie

Traveling Salesman Says He Choked Girl But Autopsy Reveals She Died of Acute Dilation of the Stomach.

Erie, Pa., March 18 (AP)—Virginia Gibney, 32, Philadelphia chorus girl, found dead in her room in a hotel here today, died of natural causes during a quarrel with Karl H. Bechtel, a Buffalo traveling salesman. Dr. Elmer Hess reported after an autopsy on the young woman's body.

The physician held that the young woman died of acute dilation of the stomach, believed to have been caused by liquor, with her poor physical condition as a contributing cause.

Bechtel, who was arrested in the same room in the hotel, told police he choked the girl during a quarrel over money but the autopsy was said to have shown that this did not cause death. He was held by police pending further investigation.

Buffalo, March 18 (AP)—Karl H. Bechtel, of this city, held by the Erie, Pa., police in connection with the death of a burlesque actress, is a district manager of the Philadelphia Storage Battery Company here. At the company's office, it was said he works out of Jamestown, where he lives. His parents live in Buffalo.

Friends of Bechtel said he always had a good record and that he had attended the naval academy at Annapolis for three years.

East Kingston Road Dangerous

Superintendent Van Keuren of Board of Public Works Finds Forty Ton Rock Ready to Move Out Carrying Road With It At Dwyer Brickyard.

The lower East Kingston road leading from Ponckhockie section of the city to that village is reported in dangerous condition near the Dwyer brickyard by Superintendent W. Scott Van Keuren of the board of public works who made an investigation this morning.

According to Superintendent Van Keuren there is a big rock weighing fully forty tons about ready to slide out of the bank alongside the road, carrying the road with it. He states that traffic should exercise extreme caution in using the road at that point at the Dwyer brickyard. The rock is located in the bank at the south end of the brickyard.

It is understood that Superintendent Van Keuren will take the matter up with the brickyard authorities at once and take steps to avoid danger at that point.

Daylight Saving Starts April 24

Unless the present city ordinance is rescinded, daylight saving will go into effect in Kingston on the last Sunday in April—April 24. This ordinance was adopted in 1918 and automatically goes into effect each year unless repealed by the city authorities. Under the provisions of the ordinance daylight saving time is effective until the last Sunday in September.

FRANCE NOT LIKELY TO SEND EVEN AN OBSERVER

Paris, March 18 (AP)—France is not likely to send even an observer to the three-power naval disarmament conference proposed by President Coolidge. It was stated today, since Washington's strong disagreement with the League of Nations disarmament commission was apparent in the note made public yesterday at Geneva.

now on the statute books of the state.

He was very successful as a trial lawyer and served in many important civil and criminal actions that were tried in Ulster county. He was a man of keen intellect, thoroughly grounded in the fundamentals of the law, and his opinion on legal questions was sought by many.

In Domestic as Speaker.

Judge Jenkins was also in demand for after dinner speaking and addressed many social and fraternal gatherings in Kingston.

He was a member of the Kingston Club and an active member of the First Reformed Dutch Church.

Fraternally he was a Mason, having been raised in Kingston Lodge No. 10, F. & A. M. in 1900.

Resides his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Marie A. Clarke of this city, Judge Jenkins is survived by five sisters and one brother. They are: Miss Rita Jenkins, Miss Georgia Jenkins, Miss Rachel Jenkins, Miss Margaret S. Jenkins, all at 81 Rock, and Miss E. Mullins, one of America's foremost artists, will present an entertainment under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society at the church of the Comforter Hall. Tickets may be purchased from the members of the Christian Endeavor Society or at the door the night of the entertainment. Ice cream and cake will be sold during the entertainment.

Supreme Court Shows Respect To Judge Jenkins

At Request of Ulster County Bar Association, Judge Nichols Suspends Work and Court Adjourns Until Monday Afternoon at Two O'clock.

The March term of the Supreme court now in session was adjourned this morning until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock out of respect to the memory of Judge James Jenkins, corporation counsel and former county judge, who died early this morning at his home.

When court convened at 10 o'clock Judge A. T. Clearwater arose and said that it was his painful duty as senior member of the Ulster County Bar Association to announce to the court and bar and those people attending upon the court the death of one of the most distinguished members of the Ulster County Bar Association, Judge Jenkins. Not only was Judge Jenkins one of the most distinguished members of the bar but he was one of the most illustrious judges of the county court. He had filled many other positions of distinction with credit and therefore after consulting his fellow members of the Bar Association it had been decided to ask the court to adjourn out of respect to the memory of deceased until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at which time the court would be prepared to name a committee and fix a time when suitable resolutions might be presented to the court, and statements made and spread upon the minutes of the court in regard to the brilliant career of Judge Jenkins. In accordance with these suggestions by his brethren, Judge Clearwater asked the court to adjourn.

Judge Nichols said that it was with great sorrow that he had learned of the death of this great lawyer and gentleman who had presided in this county. His heart was too filled with sorrow to make a proper expression of his feelings and it was but fitting and proper that the court adjourn out of respect to the memory of Judge Jenkins. It was fitting and proper that they express their feelings over the great loss to the people of the city and county and to the Bar Association by adjourning the court. He therefore excused the jurors now sitting on the case and the witnesses present until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the court would receive the resolutions and statements of a committee from the Bar Association.

GOVERNOR WILL NEVER REGRET THIS, SAYS HARRY W. COWAN, WHEN COMMUNIST ARRIVES—FRILIA AND PROVENZANO DIE IN CHAIR.

Ossining, N. Y., March 18 (AP)—Harry W. Cowan, Brooklyn murderer who escaped the electric chair through eleventh hour executive clemency, today began to face a life of almost total deafness and in which the senses of sight, taste and smell will play no part.

Two other murderers, Joseph Frilia and Joseph Provenzano, with whom he was sentenced to die, were electrocuted at Sing Sing prison last night.

Cowan's condition is the result of a self-inflicted wound in what he contended was a suicide pact with his sweetheart, Edith Burton. He was found unconscious December 28, 1925, with a bullet wound in his head and lying over her body. A jury found him guilty of murder.

Governor Smith, in granting a commutation to life imprisonment, said he was guided by Cowan's pitiful condition and a letter from the jury and district attorney who convicted him asking clemency. William F. Gray, Cleveland business man and school-boy friend of Cowan, also made a personal plea to the governor and induced others to take up the fight for Cowan.

Cowan, who had been bidding goodbye to his daughter when the commutation arrived, expressed pleasure at being allowed to live. "Good," he cried, "the governor will never regret this."

Cowan is married, but since his conviction his wife has sued for divorce, naming Miss Burton as co-respondent.

Frilia, 22, and Provenzano, 35, went to their deaths for the slaying in 1925 of James Lemardi, of Rochester, husband of the woman both loved. Mrs. Lemardi, the mother of three children, is serving a 20-year sentence in Auburn prison for her part in the plot.

The state contended that Provenzano and Mrs. Lemardi induced Frilia to shoot the husband so that Provenzano and the wife could elope. Frilia testified that Mrs. Lemardi pretended to be ready to go away with him if he would kill her husband.

Auto Kills Boy At Saugerties

Francis Dobkins, three-year-old son of Anthony Dobkins of Janet street, Saugerties, was killed in that village Thursday morning when struck by a Buick automobile owned by Louis Allen of Fannerville, on West Bridge street. The boy died a few minutes later while being taken to the Deers Sanitarium.

Allen, who is said to have but one arm, was driving the car at the time and was accompanied by his wife. He was held by the Saugerties police after the accident was reported, pending the verdict of the coroner's inquest to be held later. Coroner W. Norman Conner of this city was notified of the boy's death by the police.

It is said that the boy stepped from behind a car owned by a man named J. McDaniel of Kingston, directly in the path of the Allen car. The McDaniel car was parked on the side of the street.

HENRY FORD'S RAILROAD MERGER DISAPPROVED

Washington, March 18 (AP)—Henry Ford's proposals to consolidate his Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railroad properties into a single new corporation, were disapproved today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The commission dismissed an entire series of applications made by Ford interests which had been fought by a small group of minority stockholders, who would have been required to sell out their Detroit, Toledo and Ironton stock.

BODY OF BABY GIRL FOUND IN A VALE

New York, March 18 (AP)—The body of a four-month-old baby girl, crammed into a black leather valise, was found today at a Times Square news stand where the valise had been checked February 22.

The infant had been strangled to death by a ribbon tied around the neck. The body was taken to the Bellevue Hospital morgue, while detectives started an investigation.

The infant, "E. R. M." was strangled on one end of the rib.

Entertainment at Comforter Church. On Tuesday evening, March 22, at 8 o'clock, Mabel E. Mullins, one of America's foremost artists, will present an entertainment under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society at the church of the Comforter Hall. Tickets may be purchased from the members of the Christian Endeavor Society or at the door the night of the entertainment. Ice cream and cake will be sold during the entertainment.

Scarlet Fever Prevalent Here

Health Officer Daniel Connelly States That Disease Is In A Mild Form—Cases Scattered About The City.

Scarlet fever in a mild form is prevalent in Kingston, and a number of cases have been reported to the board of health. Dr. Daniel Connelly, city health officer, stated this morning that fortunately all of the cases appeared to be mild in form.

Parents should take particular care at this time to report cases of illness to their physician, and especially where a rash has developed. The majority of the cases it is said are in the Ponckhockie section of the city, although there are cases scattered all over the city.

Blind Murderer Allowed to Live

"Governor Will Never Regret This," Says Harry W. Cowan, When Commutation Arrives—Frilia and Provenzano Die in Chair.

Ossining, N. Y., March 18 (AP)—Harry W. Cowan, Brooklyn murderer who escaped the electric chair through eleventh hour executive clemency, today began to face a life of almost total deafness and in which the senses of sight, taste and smell will play no part.

Test Legality Of Cook Parole

Washington, March 18 (AP)—Legality of the five year parole granted Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Arctic explorer and oil promoter, by Federal Judge James C. Wilson at Fort Worth, Texas, is expected to be tested in the United States circuit court of appeals.

While Attorney General Sargent and other officials of the department of justice have refused to comment on the probationary order, extended yesterday under the 1925 federal probation act, it is regarded as certain that District Attorney Zweifel at Fort Worth will be instructed to press for action on the appeal he already has announced will be filed.

This would throw the question into the higher federal court and possibly start legal proceedings that would be continued until the United States supreme court would be reached.

Dr. Cook, who still claims to be the original discoverer of the North Pole, is serving a 14 year sentence at Leavenworth Penitentiary, on conviction of misuse of the mails for stock promotion. He will be paroled to Erskine Williams, Fort Worth attorney and churchman.

RAILROAD MEN BRAG WUZAN FROM TRACKS

Rochester, N. Y., March 18 (AP)—Railroad men today were forced to drag Mrs. Rose Stracciarini, 35, from the railroad tracks here where she had stretched herself to await death beneath the wheels of a train rather than return to her husband with whom she had quarreled.

She was taken to police headquarters when she refused to go home.

Former A. A. C. Road Men.

Philadelphia, March 18 (AP)—Samuel J. Dillman, former national president of the Amateur Athletic Union, died today.

Aged Veteran, Thought Dead Rejoins Family

C. H. Harrison, Confederate Veteran of Civil War, Had Been Missing Fifteen Years—Police Aid in Restoring Him to Family—Son Lives Here.

This morning at 4 o'clock an aged man dressed in a Confederate uniform of gray walked into police headquarters at the city hall and informed Sergeant James V. Simpson that he was C. H. Harrison, 83 years old, and sought to locate his relatives in this city.

Earlier in the month the police department received a communication from Superintendent William C. Herbert, of the Confederate Veterans' Home at Richmond, Va., that there was an inmate there, C. H. Harrison, who it was believed had relatives in Kingston and would like to get in touch with them.

Policeman William J. Reardon was assigned to the case and located Eugene Harrison of No. 216 Fair street, who moved here from New Paltz a week ago. He stated his father's name was C. H. Harrison, but that the family had not heard from him for fifteen years and had been led to believe he was dead.

Plays With Granddaughter.

Mr. Harrison's wife is still alive, residing with a daughter at Rochester, N. Y. Another daughter, Mrs. John Lyle, resides at 20 Henry street, this city. A son, John, was last heard from some years ago at Michigan.

For three years his son, Eugene, lived at Washington, where he was employed during the war, never realizing that his father was alive and but a short distance from him at the Confederate Home.

When seen today the aged veteran was enjoying a game of checkers with his granddaughter and looked supremely happy. Despite his years, he looks healthy and is very active and jovial. When speaking of his wife he was all smiles as he intends to make the trip upstate in the near future.

Mr. Harrison served in the Confederate Army during the Civil war and at the close of the war had come north and located in Kingston. At one time he had been employed in the old Peckham plant on Grand street. Eighteen years ago he left home and the last his family heard of him was the receipt of a post card stating that he was on his way to Canada. Since then no word had been received until the communication had arrived from the superintendent of the Confederate Home, Richmond.

GOVERNOR WHITEFIELD OF MISSISSIPPI DIES

Jackson, Miss., March 18 (AP)—Governor Henry L. Whitefield of Mississippi died today of cancer of the bone, which first attacked the left leg, causing an amputation on November 30. Several days ago, after having returned to executive duties, he was again forced to his bed.

Mrs. Whitefield was with the governor in the Executive Mansion when he died. He was 59 years old. Lieutenant Governor Dennis automatically became chief executive. He is 41 years old, newspaper publisher and former state senator.

MONSIGNOR BIDDEN, 15 YEARS A PRIEST, DIES

Buffalo, March 18 (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Monsignor John D. Bidden, pastor of the Church of the Annunciation here, died today after two years of ill health. He was 75 years of age and had served as a priest for 15 years.

In the early years of his priesthood, the Rev. Father Bidden had pastored in Limestone, Carrollton, Andover, Ellikottville and Albion, N. Y. He then returned to Buffalo, where he became pastor of St. Joseph's old cathedral.

Completes Crossing of Atlantic.

Pernambuco, Brazil, March 18 (AP)—Major Sarmiento Beires, Portuguese round-the-world flier, has completed the crossing of the Atlantic ocean, arriving today at Natal, Brazil. He was flying from the island of Fernando de Noronha, off the Brazilian coast, where he arrived yesterday from the Biscoitos Islands, near the coast of Africa.

Greatest Comforts Placed in Casket.

Hamilton, Ont., March 18 (AP)—When Dr. James Merritt Zumbstein is buried at Smithville today, in the casket with the body will be his Bible and a volume of Shakespeare's works. They were his greatest comforts in life, he said, and he wanted them beside him when he was buried.

Rail Run Not Successful.

Boston, March 18 (AP)—A board of arbitration headed by James Jackson, former state treasurer, decided today that the 192-2 mile run between Boston and Troy, N. Y., does not create an excessive strain or unreasonable hardship on the engineers and conductors of the Boston and Maine railroad.

March Israel Services.

The services at the services in the Congregation Ahavath Israel Saturday morning at 10 o'clock will be conducted by the Rev. H. Redenburgh.

Probe Story of 1923 Mail Holdup

Frederick Buhl, Alias Scott Campbell, Tells of His Part in $300,000 Mail Train Holdup at Alton, Ill., in 1923.

New York, March 18 (AP)—A story of a $300,000 mail train holdup at Alton, Ill., in 1923 which Frederick Buhl, Ill., 24, has described in detail to Brooklyn police, was being investigated by postal inspectors today who said they had no record of any such robbery.

Buhl, alias Scott Campbell, and known to associates as "the millionaire kid" because of his natty appearance, was arrested last night in a Brooklyn rooming house.

He related how he and five companions, whom he refused to name, on August 23, 1923, boarded a mail car of the Chicago-St. Louis express of the Chicago and Alton Railroad shortly after it had pulled out of the Alton station and subdued two mail clerks by tear gas bombs.

Rendered helpless by the blinding tears that followed the gas attack, he said the clerks at the point of guns were easily forced to unlock their cage and permit the robbers to escape with two mail sacks containing the $300,000.

At Alton, officials declared they had no knowledge of the robbery. They recalled, however, that the Illinois Central Panama Limited was robbed at Paxton, Ill., in 1921, and the porter of the train killed.

Buhl, continuing his confession, told how he and one of his companions, with $50,000 each as their shares of the holdup, became uneasy over their sudden wealth and hid it under a gravestone in a cemetery in Bismarck, N. D. Buhl said he was too frightened ever to return there to retrieve his treasure and believes his companion never did either.

Albany Youths Confess Holdups

Albany, N. Y., March 18 (AP)—Three Albany youths confessed to the police today that they were members of a bandit gang which has held up several motorists in and near the city during the last two months. Five holdups were admitted by the trio, the police said, and they are to be questioned concerning several more.

The prisoners are George J. Many, 22, a taxicab chauffeur; Charles J. Doran, 23, also a chauffeur; and Percy A. Altshuler, 23, apprentice machinist.

Loot valued at $500 was found at Many's home. Three revolvers also were seized by the police.

Many, regarded as the leader of the band, said in a signed confession the police announced, that "it was easy holding up people and we never hurt anybody."

The first holdup so far credited to the youths was on the night of January 21. In all five the victims were motorists from whom jewelry and cash were taken.

Vermont Sap Trees Running

St. Johnsbury, Vt., March 18 (AP)—Untold numbers of sap buckets dangled from countless thousands of Vermont maples today.

Unprecedented warm weather caught many farmers napping and set legions of trees running long ahead of schedule, but now there is hardly an idle sugaring off camp in this part of the state.

Hundreds of fires gleam all night from clearings scattered over hills and mountains. Last year Vermont produced more than 12,000,000 pounds of sugar and if the present stretch of weather continues, a short but productive season for 1927 is expected.

EDITOR OF ATTICA NEWS DEAD OF BLEED POISONING

Attica, N. Y., March 18 (AP)—Frank Norris, aged 53, editor and proprietor of the Attica News, died of blood poisoning last night at a Batavia Hospital after less than a week's illness.

His friends offered to undergo blood transfusion, but tests indicated that blood was not of the standard necessary to save him.

Mr. Norris had lived here 26 years, and was prominent in Nassauville organizations.

W. C. T. U. Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held Thursday in the parlors of St. James M. E. Church. An invitation to subscribe to "The Union" was accepted. Three additional subscribers were named and one new member was admitted to the organization. It was decided to hold a fund drive at the Flower-German-Bow store April 4 and plans will be made for the conducting of the sale.

Pages Held for Hearing.

Elmendorf Not Seeking Money From Dr. Ross

But Plaintiff in $50,000 Allegation of Affections Suit Says Later He Wants to Be Reimbursed for Expenses—Trial Suspended Until Monday Afternoon.

The allegation of affections suit brought in the Supreme court by Harry R. Elmendorf against Dr. George W. Ross was continued Thursday afternoon. Mr. Elmendorf is asking $50,000 damages for loss of affection, claiming that Dr. Ross is responsible for his wife, Frances Magnums Elmendorf, leaving home.

During the examination of Mrs. Ross, who has a divorce from the doctor, she refused to testify to certain private conversation between herself and the doctor prior to their separation. She asked the court permission to exercise the privilege given her by law which makes conversation between husband and wife, not in the presence of a third party, privileged except in the case where both consent to its being stated. At one stage during the trial she refused to answer a question and turning to the judge said, "Your honor, I am doing this to protect the doctor."

Immediately counsel for defendant moved for a mistrial and asked that a juror be immediately withdrawn. The judge denied the motion and the case continued after Judge Nichols had instructed the jurors not to regard the statement. Mrs. Ross was called by Mr. Brinnair for plaintiff.

Again, later in the trial, when the plaintiff, Harry Elmendorf, was on the stand there came a rather unusual circumstance. On cross-examination by Mr. Cogan for defendant, he inquired if Mr. Elmendorf had not made a statement that he wanted to get money from Dr. Ross and that then he and his wife would return together and reside together.

Contradicts Himself About Money. Mr. Elmendorf absolutely denied ever making such a statement and said that he had told Dr. Ross he would sue him, that he would "but him to the wall" and break him if he could. He never, however, spoke to his wife and told her he would get money from the defendant and then divide with her. He said he did not want any of Dr. Ross's money. Further questioned by Mr. Cogan he said he did not want any money in this law suit and Mr. Cogan immediately turned to the court and asked for a dismissal of the complaint on statement of the plaintiff on the stand. The motion was denied.

Mr. Elmendorf had spoken in the heat of the cross-examination and evidently did not mean exactly what he said for he later testified to the expense he had been put to in the action, he said that he had been paying his wife $75 a month for the support of herself and child, and later the amount had been reduced by the courts to $60 which he has continued to pay. He said he desired to be reimbursed for his losses.

Three Women Made Trip.

Mrs. Burdette Van Aken of Port Ewen was called. She testified to an automobile trip which she, Mrs. Yesso and Mrs. Elmendorf made to Saratoga last summer. She said they had gone with Dr. Ross. Stopped a short time in Albany on the way up and had refreshments at an ice cream store. She and Mrs. Yesso had gotten out of the car and Mrs. Elmendorf had remained in the car parked at the curb. Fifteen minutes or half an hour later they returned and Mrs. Elmendorf was in the car but the doctor was not there. At Saratoga they left the car, all three women. They were about together until about 6:30 or 7 and then Dr. Ross came and came home supper together and came home. There was no stop on the way back except at Catskill where they all visited an ice cream parlor.

Neighbors Observed Auto.

Major O. R. Hildebrand, who owns the farm upon which Mr. Elmendorf resided for several years after he was married, was called. He said he had observed the Ross car in front of the farm house some 10, 12 or 14 times in the three years that Mr. Elmendorf had resided on the farm.

Andreas LeFevre also said he saw the car in front of the house several times. He was friendly with Dr. Ross.

Old Iron Mines In Harriman Park

State Park Filled With Hundreds of Mines Where Industry Once Flourished—Interesting Bits of History Recalled.

Hidden along the network of old roads, in the Harriman State Park in the Highlands of the Hudson, are some of the most interesting examples of the hundreds of iron mines and prospect holes which are the relics of what was once the principal industry of the region, upon which its inhabitants largely subsisted, and whose decline helped to return the territory to the condition of comparative wilderness which is now preserved in the park.

Some of these mines, in their abandoned state, with the forest crowding around their shaft openings and over the dumps, and blotting out the remains of the engine and pump houses and the dwellings of the miners, are among the more striking features of the park, and attract the student of mineralogy and of local history, as well as the casual rambler. The larger ones are impressive in their extensive shafts and openings, their huge dumps, and other evidences of operation which in some cases lasted a century or more.

One of the largest and best known, because easily accessible by a short approach off the Arden Valley Road, four miles east of Arden on the Erie, is the Bradley Mine, a popular objective for the hikes of the girl campers on the two Cohasset Lakes, Summit and Twin Lakes, in the northwestern part of the park. Here the body of the ore was in a huge lens, shaped mass, 125 feet long, 75 feet wide and 60 feet high. It was entered by a vertical shaft into the side of the mountain, and the removal of the ore body, to the walls of granite, and knolls enclosing it, left a cave, which the passage of time, in the fifty years since the mine was abandoned, has given a natural appearance.

Figures Startling in Gloom.

This mine is also interesting in winter, when a barrier of huge icicles, sixty feet high, and big as a barrel, forms across the opening, and weird looking stalactites and stalagmites of ice freeze on the roof and floor. A peculiar arrangement of the seepage through the rocks of Bradley Mountain, which lie 200 feet thick above the mine, so that the most copious dripping falls on a certain spot on the frozen surface of the shafts sunk below the floor, causes every winter the formation of three eerie looking figures, like a man of Herculean type, a graceful, sinuous female figure, and an image like a child. They have been called "Mr. and Mrs. Lou and their daughter" and to see them, standing white and shining, in the gloom of the cave, is rather startling. Smaller stalagmites of ice, from lesser droppings from the ceiling, make other curious figures, so that the interior, after a thaw and a sharp freeze, is a grotesque fairyland.

Huge Dump and Cave.

Of somewhat similar character is the largest of the Hogenkamp mines, on the east side of the Hogenkamp Mountain, about two miles north of the Boy Scout camps on the Kanawauke Lakes. It is one of the half a dozen openings, on a vein that runs northeast-southwest, like the Pine Swamp Trail, or from the Lake Tiorati, off Seven Lakes Drive, along the Arden-Surebridge Trail. Its the largest of such mines in the park, making a conspicuous feature above the old road. The ore body here lay at a steep angle, and the miners worked downward in shafts, and upward, into the mountain, leaving a cave, 200 feet long and 40 feet across, rising under the slant of the eastern front of Hogenkamp, and at its highest point, reaching the surface, by means of a chimney through which the ore was hoisted out by the primitive method of horse and bucket.

Iron for Civil War Guns.

The ore from the Hogenkamp mines and, also from the Surebridge mines, two large inclined shafts now filled with water, on the old road running northward, was taken to the famous old Greenwood Furnace at Arden, where many hundreds of thousands of tons of ore was smelted in its history. About the time of the Civil War the old furnace was busy, making iron from which was cast the famous Parrott guns, in the foundry at Cold Spring on the Hudson which armed forts and ironclads in that conflict. These great guns were named for the Parrott family, which once had large holdings in this region. Much of the armament of the Northern forces in the Civil War was made of the iron taken from these mountains, even as other mines there supplied military munitions for the Continental Army in the Revolution. The Surebridge Mine Road is now known only to hikers, for it has not felt a wagon track for many years, and it is arched with great rhododendrons, beautiful all the year with their lustrous deep green leaves, and glorious in July with their gorgeous bloom. But it is paved with lumps of the blue black magnetite iron ore, fallen from the four horse and six horse wagons and ox-carts which tolled along this route. It must have been a busy highway half a century ago, but now the snow in winter is marked with the footprints of deer and fox and wildcat and raccoon, and it makes a delightful snowshoe or ski path under the evergreen arch of rhododendron and hemlock.

Mine With Interesting History.

A mine with an interesting history is the old Hassenelever shaft, on the Lake Tiorati Road, a mile south of the dam at the outlet of that lake. It was first opened about 1740, by Baron Hassenelever, a Westphalian, who secured a grant of land for what metals he might find and who had hopes of gold or silver. Finding no precious metals, but plenty of iron, he started what was Kanawauke Lakes. It is one of the half a dozen openings, on a vein that runs northeast-southwest, like the Pine Swamp Trail, or from the Lake Tiorati, off Seven Lakes Drive, along the Arden-Surebridge Trail. Its the largest of such mines in the park, making a conspicuous feature above the old road. The ore body here lay at a steep angle, and the miners worked downward in shafts, and upward, into the mountain, leaving a cave, 200 feet long and 40 feet across, rising under the slant of the eastern front of Hogenkamp, and at its highest point, reaching the surface, by means of a chimney through which the ore was hoisted out by the primitive method of horse and bucket.

Mills Contain Much Ore.

In many secluded places, along the trails and old woodroads of the park, paths which in their day of use served the miners and charcoal burners, are other mine openings, each with its story of the pioneer iron industry in this country. There are millions of tons of ore still in these hills, and the United States Geological Survey classes the region as one of the most valuable potential iron reserves, for the limited methods of operation merely pecked at the ore bodies. Competition with the easier worked hematite ores of the Michigan and Minnesota fields, which the operators of the hard magnetite, far from coal and the great centers of the iron and steel industry, could not meet, forced their abandonment fifty years ago, and with this cessation began a decline of the mountain population which had transformed the region largely into the wilderness state in which the Commissioners of the Palisades Interstate Park found it, in 1910, when Mrs. Mary W. Harriman made the princely gift of ten thousand acres in memory of her husband, now grown to forty thousand, in the Harriman Park.

Odd Maori Temple

A ratan temple, said to be the largest of the kind in the world, has recently been dedicated at Wangani, New Zealand. It has cement walls 15 inches thick, the acoustics are perfect, and the capacity is more than 1,000 worshippers, according to the Baltimore Sun. The work was done by the Maori Indians, the cost being $15,000, which is one-third less than if done by whites, it is estimated.

Cleaning Paint Brushes

After applying, the brush should be stood in turpentine for an hour or two then washed in warm water with soap till free from stain. When rinsed and dried it will be as good as new.

Don't Risk Pneumonia By Neglecting a Cold

A cough or cold may only make you feel miserable today. But when you begin to feel "achy" and feverish, with a tightness in your chest, congestion is reaching your bronchial tubes—and these tubes lead directly into your lungs!

Quickly and unfailingly, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops a cough and drives out the cold.

Hospital-Proved Medicine— not just a "cough erup!" This medication penetrates through and through the irritated membranes—and is then absorbed into the blood itself. That is how its healing powers are carried to every part of your system.

If you are catching cold: if you have a "head cold"; if your chest is tight; if you have a cough—even if bronchitis has developed—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral at once! It has relieved more coughs and colds than any other medicine in the world. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is used by hospital clinics and leading physicians. Pleasant, safe and effective for children and grown people. At all druggists. Save 20 cents by getting the dollar bottle, containing twice as much as the 50c trial size.

W. Gordon Swan

"This Is WBZ Announcing"

W. Gordon Swan—noted Springfield announcer—smokes Lucky Strikes and recommends them

Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. They are made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process in treating the tobacco. "It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

When in New York you are entitled to the same quality of Lucky Strike cigarettes as in any other city.

is what authorities say
of the natural whole grains

Only a few cereals come to you with all their original nourishment—often some of the valuable parts are milled away.

But the careful millers of Quick Mother's Oats realize the value of the natural whole grain. They remove none of the indispensable parts—and for the growth years, especially, this is of great importance.

The tender bran covering of the oat, vitamins, minerals, and a liberal contribution of tissue-building protein—these make a bowl of Quick Mother's Oats with milk one of the most nourishing and healthful breakfasts.

Give it to your growing children often. They will love its rich whole-grain flavor.

Two kinds—the kind you have always known or Quick (cooks in 2½ to 5 minutes). Both with coupons interchangeable with the Aunt Jemima coupons for which you receive so many lovely premiums: silverware, electrical conveniences, etc.

Y's Men's Club Observed Day

St. Patrick's Day was properly observed by the Y's Men's Club at their regular meeting Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. The table was prettily decorated while appropriate paper hats, horns and other noisemaking favors helped to keep the members going at top speed.

After the usual good meal the meeting was turned over to Richard Dave, chairman of the evening's entertainment committee, who introduced the guest of the evening, Judge Joseph M. Fowler, who gave a very delightful and instructive address in which he explained the workings of the probation and Baumea laws. A rising vote of thanks was given the judge with the wish that he would soon again be their guest.

The attendance prize was won by George Hendrickson.

Clarence Wolfertsteins made a very pleasing report for the delegation who traveled to Nyack last Thursday to be present at the charter presentation of the newly organized Y's Men's Club there.

GLENFORD.

Glenford, March 17.—Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Every and sons, Clifford and Herbert, and Miss Laura Ellsworth of Kingston visited Mr. and Mrs. Everett Buley on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gray and children spent Sunday at the home of John Baker in Kingston.

Chauncey Chase of Mt. Tremper visited his sister, Mrs. Alton Stoutenburg, last week.

Beatrice Gray and Gladys Stoutenburg spent the week end with Mrs. Eltinge Gray at Shokan.

Victor Stoutenburg and Leon Van Kleeck of Maiden called at James Stoutenburg's on Sunday.

Mrs. P. W. Sharpe and children of Tannersville visited her parents in this place last week.

Several Glenford people attended the Saturday evening dance at Weber's Rest at Mt. Tremper.

Eileen Johnson called on Mrs. Everett Buley on Saturday.

The play entitled, "The Kingdom of Love," given by the Probationers' Class of the M. E. Church, under the direction of the Rev. Fred Hults last Wednesday evening, was largely attended and greatly enjoyed. The pastor and his assistants deserve much credit for their untiring efforts in training the class. During the entertainment several enjoyable cornet solos were ably rendered by James H. Stoutenburg. Following the entertainment a delicious salad supper was served by the ladies.

Stop little Colds before they become big

Pneumonia

A GREAT many cases of this dread disease develop from neglected colds. That's why medical science says: "To avoid a big cold, stop a little one."

For checking all colds promptly, the following approved treatment has been found effective in millions of cases: (1) A day's rest. (2) A laxative. (3) A light diet. (4) Vicks rubbed on throat and chest.

Vicks medicated vapors, released by the body heat, are inhaled direct to the air passages; at the same time Vicks acts like a poultice, drawing out the soreness and pain. Use this treatment at the first sign of every little cold, and big colds will be almost unknown to you.

There are three big rivers that flow northward through Siberia and discharge their waters into the Arctic Sea. Vertical 3 is one. Vertical 18 is another. Both of these are familiar to crossword puzzle solvers. The third, the Yenisei, does not lend its name so readily to the puzzle diagrams, but perhaps some day it will find a place.

Boys' Class Hold First Banquet

Mrs. E. D. Chipp of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church has for several years had a Sunday school class of ten boys, who since 1924 have been known as "The Minute Men." Only recently the class has been augmented by four new members. These young men held their first real banquet in their class room adjoining the church on Wednesday evening. The joy of the occasion was greatly augmented because the boys were privileged to invite their girl friends.

The room was prettily decorated by the boys and those who served the banquet added to the green and white decorations by adorning the T-shaped table with potted ferns and shamrock plants. Green carnations were laid at each place. The boys had three guests of honor besides their well-loved teacher, Mrs. Chipp: Robert Baines, banjoist, who later entertained the banqueters; Martin Snyder, recreational director of the Sunday school, and Scout Executive Smith, who was the speaker for the evening.

After the delicious menu had been admirably served, Scout Executive Smith talked to the young people on "The Great Hike of Life," stressing three important phases—preparedness, progress, the prize. Last any of his hearers become discouraged over the long period of time devoted to preparedness on the Great Hike. Mr. Smith recalled that Jesus Christ spent thirty years preparing for the three years of his life work. Speaking of the world and the great men of the progress, Mr. Smith said there were six outstanding men of such caliber. The list was headed by Jesus Christ and closed with the name of Abraham Lincoln.

The speaker considered that there had been more world progress of every sort in the last one-hundred years than in all of the world's previous history. Nor did he consider the young people of today as being out of step with this progress. On the contrary he had the notion that they, too, were progressing and not as superficially as many were led to think.

The prize was Life Eternal. And that was won in an unusual way; not by the contestants trying to see how much they could get out of life but how much they could give to life. The great Leader of Men came, "Not to be ministered unto, but to minister."

LEIBHARDT.

Leibhardt, March 17.—Preaching service will be held Sunday, March 27, in the M. E. Church, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Lane. This is Mr. Lane's last Sunday before going to conference. A good attendance is desired.

Clayton Quick left last Monday, March 7, for Catskill where he has employment at Mr. Terry's for the season.

Miss Ethel Miller spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Keeneth Duddy at Olive Bridge.

Mrs. Lavina Krom has returned home after spending a week in Kerhonkson visiting her daughter, Mrs. Vandyke Churchill and family.

Mrs. Norman Quick was a guest for supper at the home of Mrs. Margaret Lawrence last Tuesday.

Miss Kathryn E. Brown enjoyed a visit with her cousins, the Misses Helen and Erma Hornbeck Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. DeWitt enjoyed a drive last Thursday afternoon and called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hornbeck.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jolly of Ellenville, were entertained as guests at the home of Mr. Jolly's sister, Mrs. Norman Quick, Sunday, March 13.

Mrs. Melinda Goraline spent a couple of days with her brother, Owen DeWitt at the old homestead the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Connor of Rochester Center were guests at the home of Mrs. "Abe" Hendricksou Saturday and Sunday.

Neighbors and friends extend heartfelt sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Barhart in their recent bereavement.

The young people met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin B. Davis Monday evening to arrange for their entertainment.

The Misses Ethel and Lonella Hornbeck spent Saturday, March 12, visiting with their sister, Mrs. Chester Wyckoff at Tabasco.

Andrew Krom of Mettichahonts recently returned from a visit at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ralph Emree and family at Poughkeepsie.

The social that was held in the M. E. Church last Wednesday was well attended and nearly $15 was realized from the sale of refreshments.

Mrs. Florence Slater of Kerhonkson was a guest at the home of her mother, Mrs. Margaret Lawrence last Sunday.

Grant Oakley of Poughkeepsie was a week-end guest at the home of his sister, Mrs. William Brown of Kerhonkson.

Those from the place who attended the basketball game between the Kerhonkson High School and Port Jervis Church team last Friday evening, reported a fine time.

George Lyons of Kingston, who is spending a three weeks' vacation at his former home in Sansenville, called on old acquaintances in this place last week.

William Markle, Ernest Markle and Ivan Christy of Rochester Center and Henry Quick of this place were callers at the home of Henry D. DeWitt Monday evening.

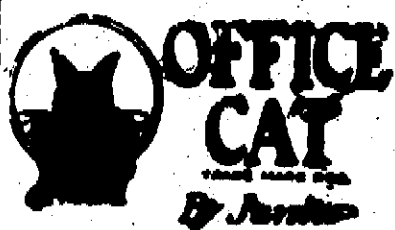

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wyckoff of Tabasco were guests at the home of Mrs. Edna Hornbeck Sunday.

Norman and Jacob DeWitt, Gilbert and Gerald Quick of Neboek spent Sunday in town.

Miss Evelyn Van Wageningen and her mother of Neboek were callers at the home of Mrs. Florence Krom on Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Alex Brown and daughter, Miss Kathryn, were guests for supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin B. Davis Sunday evening.

Plaits Are Graceful

For all their apparent simplicity many of the smartest frocks are marvels of intricate details. Tucks running in every direction form tricky designs, plaits give the desired fullness without adding one iota to the figure, while flounces poised one over the other emphasize the femininity of the wearer.

Metallic Hosiery

Evening stockings with real gold thread combined with the silk are among the new footnotes. These metallic stockings are most sheer and flattering when worn with the gold or silver gown.

PICKS WORKERS BY PENCIL TEST

Psychologist Devises Simple
Plan to Select Good Mechanics.

Los Angeles, Calif.—A simple pencil and paper test which measures an individual's mechanical ability is the newest scientific yardstick to help fit the right man or woman to the right
job. The new test has been devised by Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie of the University of Southern California.

Details of Doctor MacQuarrie's investigation, just reported to the Journal of Personnel Research, show that he has produced a test for general mechanical ability rather than a test to find out whether an individual would make a good auto repair man or a good steamfitter.

Mechanical Trades Similar.

"There are very few mechanics," he says, "who believe that work in one craft is different from work in any other. Most real mechanics feel that they could have learned any other mechanical trade just as easily as the one they selected, and, as a matter of fact, are proficient in two or more lines, and keep employed in one as well as in another."

Hitherto psychologists have depended on tests with workshop equipment as the most satisfactory means of showing whether an individual is good at using his hands. The new test, which requires a lead pencil as its shop bench, is less expensive than the tests with apparatus. The new test can be given to a large number of people more easily. It is equally fair, Doctor MacQuarrie finds, for the girl with a leaning toward engines and tools but no real experience and for the man who is used to tinkering with complicated apparatus. And, what is most important, the paper test has stood preliminary tests of its usefulness, and is reported promising as a reliable gauge of mechanical ability.

Seven Parts in the Test.

The test consists of seven parts.
Doctor MacQuarrie reports. In one section the competitor shows his ability to draw lines quickly without touching other lines. In another part he shows the speed and precision with which he can use his hands by rapidly putting three dots in each circle along a great many little circles. In another he is given a sheet covered with a network of curving, irregular lines and told to trace each line across the sheet without losing track of it.

The test is not a mental test, the psychologist explains, but is intended entirely to show what the individual can do with his hands after he is thoroughly familiar with the directions.

Lingers All Night in Phone Booth for Call

Philadelphia.—James Powell entered his claim to the world's record for waiting for a telephone call.

Samuel Madley, proprietor of a cigar store near Powell's home, saw Powell step into a telephone booth in the store about 10:30 p.m. Madley then forgot the incident and closed the store a half hour later.

Returning at 5:30 a. m. the next day to open the store, the cigar dealer found Powell in the booth sleeping and the latter, when roused, automatically reached toward the coin box with a nickel.

"The line was busy when I called last night," the amazed sleeper explained.

Merchants of Sweden Urged to Advertise

Stockholm.—Quoting President Cool-idge's conclusion that American trade and industry has advertising to thank for its powerful position, Capt. Grat-strom told the Stockholm Merchants' club in a recent address that newspaper advertising is the heart of all modern publicity campaigns. Basing his remarks on his observations during a recent study tour in the United States, he declared that the merchant who is enough of an optimist about his goods to plunge into advertising but at the same time enough of a pessimist to keep his feet on the ground in his calculations, has the future in his favor.

Evangelist Ex-Member of Jesse James Gang

Denver.—Ferry express rider, mule skinner, outlaw and bandit with a price on his head, and evangelist—Alex Adair, once a member of the notorious Jesse James gang, was all of them.
"Crime don't pay," says Adair, and "that's the reason forty years ago I hit the sidewalk trail." As he rightly conducts his services here in the chapel of the Volunteers of America but few visualize him as a one-time outlaw.

Nevertheless, Adair can recall most vividly many stirring episodes of his early life, several of which resulted in a price on his head. Characters which enter into his memories include the James brothers, Henry Starr and his band of Oklahoma outlaws and Cherokee Bill.

Yet some people wonder why OTHERS have all the LUCK

CHARLES M. SCHWAB said a wise thing. "I like to do business with lucky men."

Think that over a minute. See how sound it is. If you associate with failures, you're always in an atmosphere of failure.
If you associate with winners, all your surroundings help you to win.

"But how can I associate with winners?" you ask.

Here's one easy way—an inexpensive way—a 25-cents-a-month way.

The April issue of The American Magazine is on the newsstands this minute. Go to the nearest newsstand and drop a quarter. Take that April number home.

It's full of winners. Of ordinary men and women who have done extraordinary things. Of folks like you and me who have got hold of the good things of life and held on.

It's like a breath of fresh air filling your lungs. Like getting your second wind. Like waking up in the morning with a head full of new ideas.

And all for 25 cents.

Twenty-five cents to form the habit of being lucky. Of thinking in terms of progress, of bigger opportunities, of greater happiness, of larger, richer, more rewarding life.

Spend that quarter and get the habit. Don't let your life slip away.

Carrier Giants Are Waging War For Rail Control

Captains of Railroad Industry Plan Consolidation—Big Question is Whether There Shall Be Four or Five Northeastern Trunk Lines—Center of War Over Railroad Grouping.

(By Carl S. Braudebury.)

New York, March 18 (AP).—The checkerboard war of the eastern trunk line carriers to capture the rich railroad business that lies between the Atlantic seaboard and the Mississippi river continues unabated while quiet moves are planned by the captains of the railroad industry.

Nearly fifty thousand miles of railroad with a capitalization of $4,500,000,000 are involved in the tangled question whether the nation's transportation business in the northeastern section of the United States shall be carried on four highly consolidated trunk lines or a fifth system created by the building of new trackage to connect certain independent lines between New York and the Mississippi valley.

In the swirl and hurry of railroad securities that rise and fall on the stock exchange; in the veiled moves of quiet buying by railroad interests of feeder railroads; and in the plan proposed for rail consolidation made by the Interstate Commerce Commission may be pieced together a composite picture of a railroad war that has not its like in transportation history.

No rate war impends or is possible, the bankers say, as in other days, but it is a struggle of carrier giants to organize their strategic positions in their own fields and obtain the greatest amount of gross business.

Fighting for Fifth System.

Some seven years ago this subterranean battle began with here and there only surface indications visible to the public. Today finds the question of a four or five trunk line system still unanswered with the forces led by the New York Central urging a four track arrangement, while Leonor F. Loree, president of the Delaware & Hudson, fights for a fifth system that would link up the Delaware & Hudson, the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh and the Wabash by new trackage in Pennsylvania with certain trackage rights over the Pennsylvania Railroad. Aligned with Loree in his fight against the New York Central; Baltimore and Ohio and the Van Sweringen is indicated, is the Pennsylvania.

Loree's plan for the fifth trunk line sustained a jolt when the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh declined the suggestion of the Interstate Commerce Commission that the Loree option on that line be continued. Wall Street bankers say that if the Interstate Commerce Commission decides finally to permit Loree to acquire the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh the head of the Delaware & Hudson will again seek its acquisition.

System Urged by Central.

The four trunk line system as urged by the New York Central and its friends groups the following lines:

1.—New York Central, with the addition of the Lehigh Valley; the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh and the Ontario and Western.

2.—The Baltimore and Ohio plus the Reading, Jersey Central, Ann Arbor, the Monon, Buffalo and Susquehanna, the Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Western and the Western Maryland.

3.—The Nickel Plate plus the Lackawanna, Virginian, the Detroit and Toledo South Shore and possibly the Wheeling and Lake Erie and the Pittsburgh and West Virginia.

4.—The Pennsylvania plus the Norfolk and Western, the Grand Trunk Western and the Chicago and Alton from Chicago to St. Louis.

The grouping for the Nickel Plate route has been changed by the operations of the Van Sweringens who are trying to bring about a combination of the Nickel Plate, Erie, Chesapeake and Ohio, Pere Marquette and Hocking Valley.

The chief figures in fight over the four or five line systems, with the Interstate Commerce Commission on trying for a solution are Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania; George F. Baker, dominant force in the Lehigh Valley and New York Central; Leonor F. Loree, head of the Delaware & Hudson; Daniel Wilshire, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, and the Van Sweringens of Cleveland.

The Ripley Plan.

With the Transportation Act of 1920 openly espousing great railroad consolidations where there had for years been severe opposition to them, President Ripley of Harvard was engaged by the Interstate Commerce Commission to evolve an amalgamation plan. Professor Ripley favored a five trunk line system, namely the Pennsylvania; the New York Central; Baltimore & Ohio, the Erie and the creation of a fifth system. He further proposed to award the Jersey Central and the Reading to the Baltimore and Ohio; the Lehigh Valley to the Erie to which would be added the Wabash.

Professor Ripley created a fifth trunk line with the Lackawanna as the main stem to which would be added the Nickel Plate; the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, the Western Maryland, the Wheeling and Lake Erie, the Bessemer and Lake Erie and the Lake Erie and Western.

Opposition to I. C. C. Plan.

The Interstate Commerce Commission substituted in the Ripley plan the Lehigh Valley for the main stem for the fifth system and gave the Lackawanna to the Erie; assigned the Western Maryland to the New York Central and suggested that the Baltimore & Ohio take over the New Haven.

Sharp shooting commenced with the publication of the plan and the battle began. The plan seemed to have no favor in any railroad quarter. The New York Central wanted the Jersey Central and this provoked open opposition from the Baltimore and Ohio while the Pennsylvania protested against being shorn of the Norfolk and Western.

New Sweringens Appear on Scene.

New militant railroad forces came upon the scene of conflict when the Van Sweringens appeared with their plans for a trunk line system. They opposed joining the Nickel Plate with the Lackawanna or the Lehigh but wanted the Chesapeake and Ohio. The Van Sweringens later suggested the consolidation of the Nickel Plate, the Erie, Chesapeake and Ohio, Pere Marquette and Hocking Valley.

All previous proposals went into the discard and certain executives of eastern railroads planned a four line trunk system. This plan, still being urged by the New York Central, was opposed by Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania, and brought Leonor F. Loree back from a European vacation and caused the Baltimore & Ohio and the Van Sweringens forces to join issue with the New York Central as against the Pennsylvania.

Link Up West Shore.

Loree found that the four trunk line plan left the Delaware & Hudson practically isolated. He proposed as a substitute a fifth trunk line made up of the Delaware and Hudson; Lehigh Valley; the West Shore, Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh with a quarter interest in the Reading and Jersey Central. Loree also wanted the Bessemer and Lake Erie; Western Maryland and Wheeling and Lake Erie.

The head of the Delaware and Hudson aggressively waged his campaign, while this plan was being formulated, by securing options on the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh and then threw a bomb in the railroad camps by asking the Interstate Commerce Commission permission to build a line across Pennsylvania from Easton, Pa., to Pittsburgh and also asking certain trackage rights from the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The Loree plan is said today to have undergone modifications. It is reported that his fifth trunk line now contemplates using the Lehigh Valley out of New York as an independent line to Easton, Pa., connecting with the Delaware and Hudson, then constructing a new railroad west to DuBois, Pa., to make a junction with the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh.

Why Stock Prices Leaped.

In the war of consolidation the New York Central, Nickel Plate and Baltimore and Ohio took over the control of the Wheeling and Lake Erie while the Baltimore and Ohio secured a minority interest in the Western Maryland. It was in the purchase of the stocks of these feeder line railroads that brought about leaping prices for Wheeling and Lake Erie on the exchange recently and created what was in effect a corner of the stock.

The Van Sweringens are still working on their second plan of grouping their interests but it was learned that instead of exchanges of stocks of the roads for that of the Nickel Plate, which brought opposition from the Interstate Commerce Commission, it is now contemplated to have the numerous Van Sweringen roads buy stock interests in each other.

America Has a Fast Mile Runner

New York, March 18 (AP).—For the first time since the brilliant appearance of Paavo Nurmi, America today boasted a mile runner capable of defeating the finest of foreign opposition.

To Lloyd Hahn, sturdy Nebraska flier of the Boston A. A., went the honor of re-establishing American middle distance supremacy when he conquered Edwin Wide, Swedish master of Nurmi, in the "Casey" mile at the Knights of Columbus annual games in Madison Square Garden last night. Hahn won by four yards in 4 minutes, 12.1 seconds after one of the most grueling battles the famous arena has ever witnessed.

The time—one-fifth of a second slower than the world mark held jointly by Nurmi and Jule Raty—tells but a meager tale of a heart-thrilling mile that teemed with thrills from start to finish and lifted 12,000 cheering spectators from their seats.

The field of six probably prevented establishment of a new record by jamming the track during the early running. But at the close of the eleven laps, only Joe Sivak, Illinois A. C., was within 20 yards of the flying leaders, with Jimmy Connolly, New York A. C., fourth, Gus Moore, next star of St. Bonaventure College, fifth, and Willie Goodwin, N. Y. A. C., last.

RED SHIELDS TOO STRONG FOR VARSITY FIVE

The Red Shields set the Kingston High School Varsity quintet back another game at the Salvation Army court Thursday night when they defeated the school boys, 64 to 31. The Salvationers gained considerably in the initial frame at the end of which the score stood 26 to 11. Merritt did the outstanding scoring for the winners whose score was also much enlarged by the point-getting of Joyce and Hyatt. Irwin of the Varsity scored one over half of the total, 31, for the high school team.

TRAINING WILL HELP SPRINTER

Expert Says Condition and Form Are Big Factors

A Charlie Paddock, an Arthur Duffy may be born with spiked shoes on his feet, but the average college sprinter who dashes to his ten and four-fifths that is pretty generally four parts training to one part native ability.

At any rate that is the opinion of Carl Easton Williams, famous athlete and physical culture expert who writes in the American Boy Magazine, arrived at after training his son, Russell, to be the fastest runner of his school. It is an opinion that should serve to encourage many boys who suspect at times that they weren't born hundred-yard men.

Mr. Williams points out that condition and form are the two main factors in running and that of the two the former is the most important. Charlie Paddock found that invariably when he bettered his form his speed increased. "After he thought he had acquired his greatest speed," Mr. Williams writes, "he tried lifting his knees—and world's records fell. Sometimes, when running his best, Paddock has hit his chin with his knees."

But Paddock himself admits that condition is even more important than form, and that it is a serious mistake to go into athletics without the proper preliminary training. "For," says Mr. Williams, "bear in mind that a hundred-yard dash at maximum speed is the most concentrated and stupendous effort of which one is capable."

"Don't try to crowd a year's training in three weeks," the American Boy Magazine article continues. "It can't be done. If you plan to go out for track this spring, get busy in a gymnasium now. When you do start the actual training don't try to do everything the first day. Build your strength gradually. Quarter-mile sprints seldom run a full trial quarter against time during the period of training."

Mr. Williams emphasizes the fact that a good sprinter is symmetrically developed, that he runs with his whole body and not just with his legs alone. And this is where the element of form comes in. He says: "Really, form is efficiency, and in most branches of athletics this means getting the whole body into it, using the strength of every part."

After a boy gets in condition comes the actual training in the technique of the hundred. And here was where Mr. Williams was able to give his son, Russell, many tips which he himself had only learned from experience.

He showed him the trick in getting set of throwing the weight far forward on his hands, so far forward that he could balance on his hands without changing his position. This, according to Mr. Williams, was Arthur Duffy's pet trick and was largely the secret of his flashy get-away.

Regarding the start the article in the American Boy Magazine says: "Don't jump. Start running with short, even strides, going off in 'low gear,' with your body forward; then gradually straighten up as you work into 'high gear.' Keep your head forward; never throw it back or up."

In training his son Mr. Williams particularly stressed the value of relaxation. "If you're tense and rigid you can't start well, because you must relax your muscles before you can contract them for the push off. However, if you'll train yourself to relax while waiting for the gun you'll likely get off to a perfect start every time."

Discussing the finish when you're hearing the tape, Mr. Williams says: "Charlie Paddock has a trade mark, as it were, in his finish. It's a tremendous leap and Charlie has explained that in dozens of cases he has won races in the last ten or fifteen yards, sometimes coming up from behind, with this jump at the tape."

"Although it really doesn't matter," Mr. Williams concludes his article in the American Boy Magazine, "whether you win or lose in a good contest, provided you have the fun of the game, there is no satisfaction in losing because of mistakes in training. The big value of athletics lies in this lesson of the supreme importance of preparation—and in the discipline that goes with it."

His Trouble

"On the train the other day, I met a fellow that I couldn't hardly make out," said Farmer Hunter. "The car was crowded and he took a seat by me. He said he liked farmers better than any other class of men; they were honest, knew more, had better things to eat, made more money, and enjoyed life better than any other sort of men."

"Of course, he was a swindler!" returned Farmer Fumblegate. "How bad did he sting you?"

"That was the funny part. He didn't want to borrow any money, sell me a phony gold watch, or play any kind of a game of that sort. I couldn't make out anything about him except that he must be crazy. But he didn't look it or act it!"—Kansas City Star.

Hard to Be Both

Nine times out of ten the cake-eater makes a poor bread-winner.

He showed him the trick in getting set of throwing the weight far forward on his hands, so far forward that he could balance on his hands without changing his position. This, according to Mr. Williams, was Arthur Duffy's pet trick and was largely the secret of his flashy get-away.

Grimes Hits Hard

Burrage Grimes, former Brooklyn pitcher and now a member of the New York Giants, substituted a bat for his golf club during a game at West Springs, and showed how he can slam a golf ball down the fairway on the golf course. You can bet the ball would for a mile, as Grimes is one of those few exceptions in baseball, a hitting pitcher.

Tickets for Legion Bouts

Tickets for the American Legion boxing bouts to be held at the armory, under the auspices of the 156th Field Artillery, March 23, are now on sale at the following places.

Armory, Legion Building, A. J. Murphy, Flower Shop, Leotta's barber shop, Railroad Avenue, Dew Drop Inn, Pilling Station, Port Ewen, and E. B. Carey, John street. Tickets may be purchased also from members of the American Legion.

Six hundred ringside tickets will be reserved and 150 balcony seats. There will be one thousand general admission tickets. Prices range from $2.20 down to $1.10.

Requests for tickets by mail should go to George W. Potter, treasurer, American Legion, 22 Ferry street.

Leo Smith, promoter of the bouts, has gone to Albany to confer with Promoter Jim Betts of Albany. Betts has just returned from New York city where he has arranged for several boxers of pugilistic ability to appear on the Legion program.

One ten-round bout, one eight-round bout, two six-round bouts and one four-round bout will complete the program of high class entertainment that is aimed to please Kingston fans. The full details will be announced when Mr. Smith returns from Albany.

World Champions Are Confident

St. Louis Cardinals Believe They Will Repeat Under Manager O'Farrell—Thevenow and Flint Rhem Have Not Reported.

Avon Park, Fla., March 18 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals are champions of the world and proud of it. If their vocal chords hold out there seems little likelihood that they will be out talked in many games this season. In the spring preparation period the conversational ball has been tossed back and forth with an abandon second only to that with which the regulation baseballs are thrown.

The champions seem supremely confident they will be able to repeat. The new manager, Bob O'Farrell, contented himself with modest satisfaction at the prospects. "I think it's safe to expect our club to be among the leaders all the way," he said.

The club has lost its manager and second baseman, found a manager in the ranks and bought a second baseman from another club. An experienced pitcher and catcher have been added and two new outfielders who can hit are seeking a chance to prove it.

Bob O'Farrell, promoted from catcher to manager and catcher, is popular with the players and is not dismayed at the difficult task of taking Rogers Hornsby's place. Frankie Frisch started at a rapid pace, and thus far has kept it up with consistently sensational fielding around second base.

Toumy Thevenow, a shining light in the world series, has not reported to play shortstop and his place has been taken temporarily at least by Darcy-Raymond Flowers, called "Jake" for short. Flowers, who once had a stiff finger on his throwing hand, loosened the digit during the winter and has been doing well. Thevenow, however, is expected to report sooner or later and send Flowers to the bench to sit beside George Toporcer, the spectacular infield sub. Lester Bell at third and Jim Bottomley at first are holdovers.

Flint Rhem, the South Carolina planter, is the other missing member of the team. With the exception of Rhem, last year's pitchers are on hand with an added veteran, Jimmy Ring, who has gained experience with Cincinnati, Philadelphia and New

Freleigh on Card At Jewish Center

It is the intention of Sam Jacobson who is working in harmony with Jimmy Betts in the promotion of the Jewish Community Center—smoker to place one more fracas on the card of bouts to be presented in the Community Center Hall Thursday, March 24. The services of one pugilist have been secured for the additional bout but as yet no opponent has been chosen to stack up against him. The battler is Mort Freleigh and as a man of ability he stands high in the minds of the fight fans of this city due to his recent exhibitions with Eddie Holohean at St. Mary's smoker and with Bill Roedel at the Elks' smoker. On both occasions, he showed up good and Sam Jacobson is anxious to locate a punch artist who will display equal talent when Freleigh enters the roped arena.

Samuel J. Kiber who is a member of the house committee, when interviewed concerning the smoker said, "We will have 250 reserved seats and no more which will assure all holding numbers of their place." It is the aim of the Jewish Community Center organization to present a program which will equal, if not eclipse, any of the like yet staged here.

Besides presenting an entertainment which from all angles appears to present a sterling quality the organization will have a capable man, Eddie Cashion, to govern the boxing shows. "The Joe Humphries of Kingston," Eddie Scherer, will in his novel way do the informing at the event.

Shepherds Fear "Devil"

Shepherds in the neighborhood of Machach-Kala, in central Soviet Asia, have gone on strike, declaring that the devil appearing in the form of a gigantic eagle has made their profession hazardous.

They report that in the course of a few days the eagle killed 42 sheep, carrying off the younger victims. The mountain eagles in the vicinity of Machach-Kala are noted for their size and ferocity. In this instance the shepherds were so intimidated by the great bird that they feared to come to the assistance of their flocks.

In Big League Training Camp

New York, March 18 (AP).—The doubtful honor of being the last athlete to arrive in the New York Yankees training camp at St. Petersburg will go to Herb Pennock, steady southpaw, if he decides to desert the holdouts ranks this season.

That was established yesterday when Earl Combs, outfielder from Kentucky, reached St. Petersburg. Combs reported late because of an operation for tonsillitis.

While the Yankees spent yesterday plastering the Yarnigans, 13 to 1, the Giants entertained the world champion St. Louis Cardinals in a regular game at Saratoga. So unscathed in its likeness to a real struggle was the contest that two Cardinal runs in the final frame were necessary to bring St. Louis home a 3 to 2 winner.

Neither team could score in eight innings for the Cards and Sherry McQuillan and Greenfield for the Giants and Hornsby, swapped by the Giants and Cards respectively, faced their old mates for the first time.

A lecture and shakedown instilled new life into the Robins and they threw Columbus for an 8-2 loss at Clearwater.

WHAT HAPPENED IN THE ROPED ARENA LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press.)

Chicago—Dave Shale, San Francisco, won a technical knockout over Tiltle (Kid) Herman, Los Angeles, six rounds.

Boston—Young Stribling, Macon, Ga., outpointed Maxie Rosenbloom, New York, 10 rounds. Hilario Martinez, Spanish lightweight champion, knocked out Johnny McIntyre, Portland, Maine, three rounds.

Pittsburgh—Dick Conlon, Altoona, beat Cuddy de Marco, Pittsburgh, 10 rounds.

This modern age discriminates—and smokes Camels

THIS age is the hardest to satisfy—it's the most discriminating age ever known. That's why it goes to Camel for cigarette enjoyment. It takes real tobacco to satisfy modern smokers and Camels are made of the choicest tobaccos grown, marvelously blended. Smokers of today are right in demanding Camels; no better cigarettes are made, regardless of price.

To seek a real smoke is to find Camel—the choice of the modern world. Camels are a revelation of goodness, always mellow, smooth and mild. This age shows the way to smoke contentment—

16 expert car-demonstrators chose TRAFFIC TYDOL above all other gasolines

Improve your motor's performance in 5 definite ways. Get the New Traffic Tydol from Sealed Tydol Pumps. No premium price

HOW will it improve my motor's performance?" "How does it compare with the gas I'm using?" Those are two questions you'll want answered about the New Traffic Tydol.

To give you fair, impartial answers, competitive tests were conducted recently between the New Traffic Tydol and seven other gasolines.

They were practical tests, made by practical men under the same driving conditions you have to face every day. And the tests were designed to show which gasoline is best fitted to cope with traffic, the greatest problem in modern motoring.

No longer is traffic confined to the busy city streets. Today, every highway holds a torrent of hurrying, dodging cars. Every little village has a catch-as-catch-can corner.

And in every situation, in every crisis that pops up in modern traffic, gasoline plays a vital part in your comfort and your safety.

What present-day traffic demands

Modern traffic makes these 5 demands of gasoline:

- First: split-second starting.
- Second: rushing pick-up to sweep you through the openings in traffic.
- Third: a great reserve of power, ready to respond instantly in an emergency.
- Fourth: elastic power that reduces gear-shifting by keeping your motor as smooth-running at 5 miles an hour as it is at 50.
- Fifth: anti-knock qualities that keep your motor quiet and sweet-running even under stress.

PROOF!

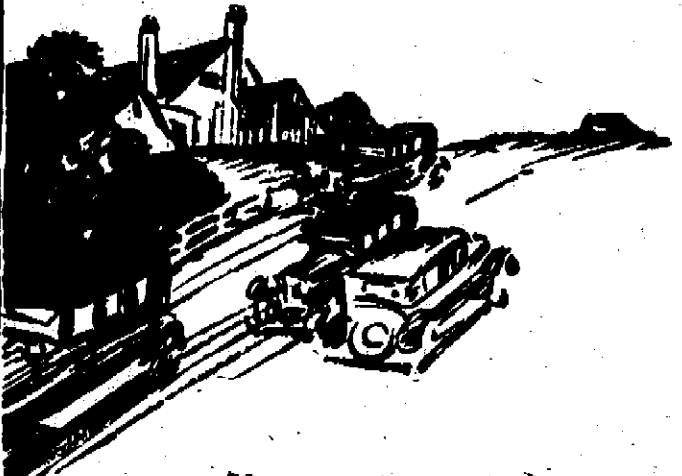

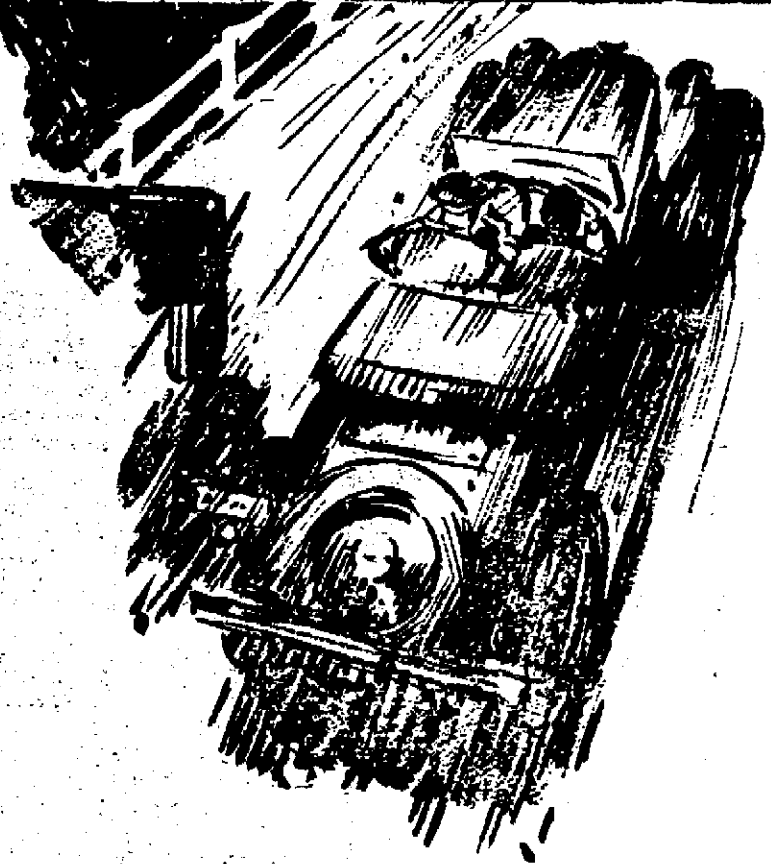

The New TRAFFIC-TYDOL means:

1. FASTER STARTING
2. QUICKER PICK-UP
3. MORE POWER
4. LESS GEAR-SHIFTING
5. REDUCES KNOCKING

Attention! Read to yourself any time you fill your tank. New Traffic Tydol is the only gasoline that is sealed in the pump. It is the only gasoline that is sealed in the pump. It is the only gasoline that is sealed in the pump.

New Traffic Tydol will do what no other gasoline can do. It will do what no other gasoline can do. It will do what no other gasoline can do.

Send photograph of above to the office of Tide Water Oil Sales Corporation, 11 Broadway, New York City.

Here are the results.
Out of a possible 70 first choices, in tests made on the 5 separate points, the New Traffic Tydol earned 66. On the question of personal choice, all 16 demonstrators chose Tydol as the best all around gasoline.

New precision methods made this gasoline possible

The supremacy of Traffic Tydol was no accident. Two years of research—thousands of laboratory experiments—hundreds of road tests—new refining equipment—huge added resources in California crude oil, which imparts unique qualities to a gasoline—all those factors played their part in perfecting this new-type motor-fuel.

Yet the New Traffic Tydol would have been impossible, had not Tide Water engineers developed an improved precision process of refining gasoline. To perfect this new process they adapted Bubble-Tower stills and applied a control system of amazing accuracy.

Where ordinary gasoline stills are regulated by hand, Tide Water's new stills are governed by sensitive thermostats and accurate electric recording instruments.

It is now possible to make a motor-fuel without the slightest guess-work, variation or error. And, car-owners can obtain a gasoline that meets the five demands of 1927 traffic—the New Traffic Tydol.

Test New Traffic Tydol in your own car

Stop today at any black and orange Tydol pump. All Tydol pumps are sealed to protect you against substitution. Have your tank filled with the New Traffic Tydol. Test this gasoline impartially, for its five definite qualities—fast-starting, quick pick-up, added power, less gear-shifting and anti-knock qualities.

Then you'll discover what it means, in comfort, safety, and convenience, to use this 1927 gasoline in 1927 traffic.

Tide Water Oil Sales Corporation, 11 Broadway, New York City.

It was on those 5 essential points that the gasolines were tested.

"Blind" tests prove Traffic Tydol's superiority

Sixteen professional car demonstrators were selected to make the tests. They were men who knew the meaning of a motor's slightest whisper. Men who knew cars from bumper to tail light—who knew gasolines from carburetor to exhaust. The cars they drove ranged from fours to eights, from Fords to Locomobiles.

The tests were made under every conceivable traffic condition—in the tangled turmoil of city streets; on steep, winding hills; on the speed inviting stretches of the highways; in rain, and cold, and snow.

Each demonstrator first tested the gasoline he was accustomed to use. Then he conducted "blind" tests with other gasolines, taken from unlabelled cans. In every case, one of these was the New Traffic Tydol. But, at no time during the tests, did the demonstrator know which gasoline he was testing.

In each case the demonstrator was accompanied by an impartial observer, with a split-second stop watch, who recorded the performance of the gasolines on each of the 5 points essential in modern traffic.

The Sealed Pump Protects You

The Sealed Pump, with which Tide Water defeated gasoline substitution a year and a half ago, is still rigidly in force. Nothing but Tydol can go into a Tydol dealer's tank. Nothing but Tydol can come from a Tydol pump.

In protecting the car-owner from substitution the Sealed Pump means even more with the advent of the New Traffic Tydol. It assures you of always getting this new type motor-fuel which improves the operation of your motor in 5 definite ways. Try Traffic Tydol today.

Club Federation Will Cooperate

Executive Committee of Federation of Women's Clubs Decides to Aid in Movement to Control Cancer—Other Matters Discussed.

An important meeting of the executive committee of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs was held at the Kingston City Library on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. A. Day Powley, president, presiding. Following the reports of the secretary, Mrs. Harry Madden, and the treasurer, Miss Lucy Healy, one new member was received into the individual membership, Mrs. Lillian Texier.

There were no club reports. Dr. Day as chairman of the moving picture committee reported having had an interesting interview with Mr. Texier, manager of the Reading theatre, relative to the attendance of unaccompanied children at the theatre and other matters. Mr. Texier said he was doing his utmost to obey not only the city ordinance relative to the admission of unaccompanied children under sixteen years of age, but the state law to the same effect, and was refusing to admit children without parents or guardians in just so far as he knew of their attempting to thus attend the performances at the Reading theatre. Dr. Day asked him to bring the picture "Old Ironsides" to Kingston since so many people had expressed a wish to see it here and to have the children see it. Mr. Texier said that he had spoken for the picture and expected to show it at the theatre later in the spring or early summer. He also stated that he wished to cooperate with the women of the city in doing all within his power to give good, wholesome performances under his management.

As chairman of the public health committee, Dr. Day reported that $69 more had been received to be added to the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal sale.

Cooperate to Control Cancer. Both Dr. Day and Mrs. Powley had attended the Kiwanis luncheon at which Dr. Swan had spoken on the "Control of Cancer," and Dr. Day told briefly of his address. She will repeat what she said at the open meeting on Saturday afternoon. After hearing Dr. Day's talk, it was voted that the Federation should cooperate with other organizations in the county in a movement looking to the Control of Cancer. The need of this move was made more emphatic by Dr. Day's statement that according to a recent health report Ulster county had the highest death rate from tuberculosis, cancer and diabetes according to its population of any county in the state.

Nominating Committee Named. Before the meeting adjourned the president announced the following nominating committee which will report at the May meeting: Mrs. G. F. Rice, member of Sorosis, chairman; Mrs. C. N. Reed of the Monday Club; Miss Adams of the Lowell Club; Miss Edith Holmes of the Atharhaeton Club; Mrs. Van Ingen of the Twentieth Century Club.

Announcement was made of the open meeting on Saturday afternoon to be given at 3 o'clock by Miss at 2:30 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A., Frances Lyon of Albany.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Perfect reception again Thursday afternoon and evening from the Big Three—WGY, WJZ and WEA— with everything else practically silent until a very late hour. WGY had a half hour spasm of distortion from 7:30 to 8. WLWL and WBER were among the very few stations heard at all. At a late hour WOC, WSB, WLW and WSAI could be heard faintly. Chicago and Cleveland were dead to this part of the world. There was not the slightest static noise, and only occasional fat frying. Bloopers were very much in evidence.

Station WNYC, the municipal broadcasting station of the city of New York, should be discontinued, says Radio Broadcasting magazine. Its program standards are hopelessly below par and will remain so unless the city appropriates a million dollars a year for talent. The station, furthermore, is not being used entirely for broadcasting purposes; its point-to-point communication for broadcasting police alarms is misuse of the broadcasting band.

Hibernian Ball Great Success

The fifty-second annual ball of the Ancient Order of Hibernians held in St. Mary's School Hall Thursday night was one of the most successful events ever conducted by the organization. A very enjoyable concert, was rendered by the Serenaders and an entertainment staged by the members of St. Mary's Junior Dramatic, under the direction of Mrs. E. P. Ward was received with hearty applause by the large audience. Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Refreshments were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

The concert began at 8 o'clock and the Irish airs rendered by the Serenaders made a very favorable impression on the audience. The two plays given by the Junior Dramatic Club, "An Irish Innovation" and "The Greatest Plague of Life" were well interpreted by the little members of the club and their efforts were much appreciated. The debut of the orchestra conducted by the club and trained by E. P. Ward was certainly a favorable one and the selections which the children produced on various musical instruments gained much favor. Several of the little girls rendered vocal solos and they were encored a number of times. The Boys' Junior Dramatic Club who appeared for the first time did very good.

The Serenaders furnished the music for dancing and a large number enjoyed themselves in the spacious hall until a late hour.

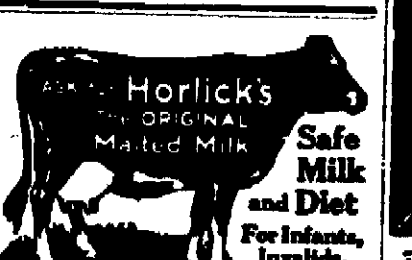

AL SMITH, JR. WINS FIRST MURDER CASE

New York, March 18 (AP)—Governor Alfred E. Smith was a proud father today, for Al Smith, Jr., has won his first murder case.

Young Smith, who has been practicing law for about a year, was associated with John McSweeney in defending Frank Travia of Brooklyn, charged with killing Mrs. Anna Frederickson. A policeman discovered Travia being parts of Mrs. Frederickson's body into the East river and her torso was found in his room.

NASH

The Nation's New Vogue in Body Design Styled by Nash

It is emphatically apparent today that Nash has created a new era in American enclosed body artistry with this strikingly distinctive body design.

With its new symmetry of line, its classically beautiful French-type rear contour and French roof design, and its rich ensemble of costly car features, the new Special Sedan pictured above possesses magnetic appeal for those most keenly perceptive of motor car style and quality.

The steering wheel is of real walnut in fitting harmony with the handsome walnut finish of the inside window moldings, door panels, the instrument board and the crowned panel which is above the instrument board. The gray toned upholstery is genuine Chase Velour Mohair Velvet, deeply tufted. And Nash powers it with a 7-bearing motor—the world's smoothest type.

So that in transcendent power-overness and quietness, in lightning-fast "pick-up," and in careful roadability on the straightway or climbing, together with a world of speed, it stands out as the most notable car of its field.

As standard equipment there are Oxford Sashers at front; 4-wheel brakes, of special Nash design, with the front wheel brakes completely enclosed for safety's sake; and 5 disc wheels.

A larger Special Sedan on the Advanced Six Chassis, reflecting the same unsurpassed quality throughout, is offered at $1495 f.o.b. factory.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)
Syracuse, N. Y.—When it comes to horse flesh Arthur E. Hopkins seems dumb, like David Harum. He bought a colt three years ago in New York for $21. The seller thought the horse was a joke. Hopkins recently sent the animal to Lexington, Ky., for a sale. Joseph J. Collins of Boston bought him for $5,250.

Mamaroneck, N. Y.—Demand for autographs of signers of the Declaration of Independence means independence for John Cecil Clay, a shut-in artist, who was in straitened circumstances till he found in his barn a letter of Button Gwinnett which brought $51,000 at auction. Clay will receive 80 per cent.

West Tisbury, Mass.—The "island" is always home to those born on the island of Martha's Vineyard. Mrs. Virginia Whiting Newhall, widow of Senator Edwin W. Newhall of California, made 80 trips between San Francisco and West Tisbury, involving 80 steamboat rides before her death in her native town at 70.

Albany, Ga.—This is the safest place in the country so far as fires are concerned. Its loss last year was only 40 cents per capita and it won the Grand prize award by the National Fire Waste Council and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Tokyo—Another Japanese prima donna is in the making. The government is sending Miss Yoshiko Nagasaka, professor of the Tokyo Academy of Music, to Italy to study.

New York—Two private cars are taking Gloria Swanson to Hollywood for a year stay at making shock movies. One car is for her, the Marquis and party, the other for baggage.

Atlanta—What have Bobby Jones and Rabbi S. S. Wise of New York in common? Answer: They were born on St. Patrick's Day.

New York—Prince Michael Obolensky, as he calls himself, earns $39 a week making powder puffs for a beauty specialist. He gave this information when put in the house for denouncing Jews in a street corner address on St. Patrick's Day.

INTERESTING HEALTH TALK TO NO. 4 P-T. 3.

The March meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 4 was held on Tuesday afternoon. It was decided to hold a food sale on Friday, April 8, also to buy a pair of shoes for a needy boy. Principal Von Valkenburgh was authorized to have cards printed to use in the rooms in which the children bring the most money to bank on school banking days.

Miss Margaret O'Connor from the State Department of Health gave a very helpful and interesting talk on health activities, stressing particularly the health of the pre-school age child. Miss O'Connor explained that during the World War, physical examinations showed this country behind some other countries in the health condition of men. The women of the nation woke up and determined that such a condition must be made impossible to happen again. All states are working along health lines at present and a recent conference in Washington acknowledged our New York state work as most excellent.

Miss Margaret O'Connor from the State Department of Health gave a very helpful and interesting talk on health activities, stressing particularly the health of the pre-school age child. Miss O'Connor explained that during the World War, physical examinations showed this country behind some other countries in the health condition of men. The women of the nation woke up and determined that such a condition must be made impossible to happen again. All states are working along health lines at present and a recent conference in Washington acknowledged our New York state work as most excellent.

New York state is particularly stressing the work in the pre-school age children, the purpose being to send every child to school in perfect physical condition. Miss O'Connor outlined the various branches of the work beginning in the pre-natal work with the mother in order that the child shall be well born, taking up the diet of the mother for breast feeding, proper weaning of the baby, and the diet best fitted to secure for him good teeth, strong bones and muscles and general good health. She stated that many school nurses complain that school children do not eat proper breakfasts. Many in well to do homes come to school on a breakfast of bread and coffee which does not stand by them any length of time and they are unable to do efficient work in consequence. She held that appetite is habit formation and habit comes from experience, training and education and children should be taught from the weaning time on to eat the foods that they require, such as cereals, milk and green vegetables, containing lime and other valuable mineral salts.

She spoke also of the value of supervised play in order to bring out and correct faults in children which if allowed to develop will make them trouble later in life, such as a too retiring disposition or a bossy or jealous one.

Oldest American Line
The Baltimore & Ohio railroad is the oldest in America. Its first rail was laid July 4, 1828, by Charles Carroll of Carrollton, the last survivor of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. It can thus claim the distinction of being the oldest American railroad, although the Delaware & Hudson is an older company.

New York State News Nuggets

(By The Associated Press.)

Buffalo—Sixty days in the work for a was the sentence imposed on the Stephen Major of this city for representing her family as destitute when in reality she had two bank accounts totalling $100.

Buffalo—The local Travelers' Aid Society expects 1927 to be a big year for runaways. So far this spring, 24 boys and girls have been caught at the railroad stations and sent back to their parents.

Syracuse—Police are looking for a "cave woman" reported at large. Joseph De Pasqual told detectives that the woman entered his home, hurling stones at him. He was cut and bruised. He said that he did nothing to invite the attack.

Albany—When Dominick Genovese started to drive him team over a Ford in Normanskill creek he forgot that the spring freshet had swollen the stream. Only a few feet from shore the wagon sank. Quickly releasing the pin that held the horses to the wagon tongue he leaped into the water and seizing the tails of his swimming steeds was towed to shore.

Binghamton—Theodore Crawford of Margaretville, a World War veteran, who wore a brace and was obliged to go on crutches, slipped from a step ladder on which he was standing, striking on his spine. As the result of the accident he has regained the use of his limbs.

Niagara Falls—Michael Collins, who sustained a fracture of the vertebra in a fall recently, is reported to be recovering. Surgeons say Collins has a fracture of the seventh cervical but no displacement. A plaster paris helmet has been fitted over his head and neck and he is able to walk about. His complete recovery is assured by the surgeons.

Teaching India's Farmers
Farmers of India are being taught modern methods of agriculture. The Bombay government arranged that leading farmers in different parts of the country attend the first Bombay Presidential Agricultural show, which was held recently at Poona, so that they might return home and set examples for their neighbors. In 14 sections of the fair were shown the latest methods and implements for use in different phases of agriculture. One exhibit, called the "Poor Farmer's Stall," showed the cheapest of implements that might be used by the small farmer.

The Jolly Ten will hold a pinochle party at the home of Mrs. Hadset, 55 Smith avenue, on Monday evening, March 21, at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be served and prizes will be offered. The public is cordially invited to attend.

REMOVE METAL NOTIONS FROM WOMAN'S STOMACH

Burgeons Find 280 Pins and Needles Relied into Bell Winging in Abdomen.

Newark, N. J.—Ten ounces of metal notions, composed of 280 safety pins, straight pins and needles, formed into a ball, were removed from the stomach of Mrs. Margaret Barry, thirty-five years old.

Mrs. Barry, who speaks no English, said that before she came to America she worked in Europe as a nursemaid. Her employers did not feed her enough to satisfy her appetite. In her mouth she always carried two or three pins or a needle. If a morsel of unguarded food came her way, she would gulp it down before the master or mistress caught her and had her beaten. With the food, unnoticed in the excitement, a pin or needle would slip down without pain. Two of the straight pins had penetrated the walls of the patient's stomach, according to Drs. George Blackburn, Louis Davis and Harry Seidman, who performed the operation on Mrs. Barry at St. Michael's hospital, after an X-ray, and were hanging into the abdominal cavity until drawn out. Parts of the ball, Doctor Blackburn said, were in various degrees of corrosion, although, he added, no poison had been communicated to the walls of the stomach.

According to the doctors, the ball of needles was compact and the size of a baseball. They expressed wonder that the patient had not died from blood poisoning or peritonitis, and were surprised at her improved condition immediately after the operation.

P. T. A. Council Entertainment

The March meeting of the Federated Council of Parent-Teacher Associations was held on Wednesday afternoon.

Representatives of the various P. T. A.'s gave a brief account of the work being done in their respective clubs. Each club was requested to have a chairman to take charge of subscriptions to the Child Welfare Magazine.

Considerable time was given to plans for the entertainment to be given this evening in order to replenish the funds in the council treasury. It was decided to sell candy at the entertainment.

The program of entertainment to be given by the Federated Council this evening at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium will be as follows:

High School Orchestra, two selections
One Act Play, "Little Women"

ST. PATRICK'S PARTY HELD BY WEINER HOSE COMPANY

The St. Patrick's party held by Weiner Hose Company, No. 6, was attended by a large number who enjoyed the event very much. The scene of merriment was decorated appropriately and the tables from which the delicious refreshments were served were very attractively trimmed with novelties that reminded diners of the day celebrated. The refreshments were served by the ladies of the Auxiliary. Their uniforms consisted of green aprons and neatly made hats of the same color trimmed with small shamrocks of golden hue.

An excellent program of entertainment was heartily received by the attendants and consisted of Irish airs rendered by the American Mechanics' orchestra. The efforts of the musicians were so enthusiastically applauded that they were obliged to render numerous encores.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, who was a guest of the company, was requested to sing and rendered in his usual striking manner "My Wild Irish Rose" and "Mother Macree". Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Several prizes were awarded members of the organization for the graceful manner in which they did several classes of waltzes.

Monoxide Gas Fails as Rat Exterminator

Omaha, Neb.—Monoxide gas may be dangerous for human beings, but as a rat exterminator it is worthless, take it from Charles Kranda, gentleman farmer.

Kranda, who operates a ten-acre farm as a side line near here, recently caught four mammoth rats which had been bothering his chickens. Looking around for a humane way to kill them he thought of the monoxide gas method.

Tying a sack around three sides of the trap, he hung it on the exhaust pipe of his automobile, closed his garage tightly and turned on the motor. He left the motor of his car run for half an hour. At the end of that time Kranda threw open the garage door, shut off the engine and prepared to bury the dead rats.

When he approached the cage he found they were very much alive. They tried to break out of the cage and get at him and so ferocious were their actions that Kranda's German police dog became alarmed and beat a hasty retreat.

Theater Thief Trapped; Exits Are All Locked

Budapest.—It isn't safe to rob the dressing room of a Budapest theater while a performance is in progress, a thief, who recently did so, has learned to his sorrow.

During a recent performance in the King theater the burglar entered the dressing room of Jeno Nador, one of the city's most popular actors. On returning to the room between the acts Nador discovered the theft. At once he informed the director, who ordered that exits of the theater be closed. Then he announced the theft to the audience and asked each individual to look around him and to call the attention of an usher to all large bundles in the possession of his neighbors.

Within a short time the thief was discovered. At once those nearby began to mob him. In all probability he would have been killed if a large detachment of police who had been summoned to the theater had not arrived at this moment.

This Apple Creates Their Garden of Eden

New York.—Another story of a man, a girl and an apple—but with a happier ending than the famous original—has come to light.

Three years ago Patrolman Boylan, walking past in Second avenue, exercised his policeman's prerogative as he passed a fruit stand.

"Say, how do you get that way?" inquired the pert black-eyed miss of seventeen, in charge of the display. "Do you think apples grow on trees?"

"Don't get excited," retorted Boylan. "I'm going to pay you for it. Here's a nickel."

"Go on! I was only fooling. Of course you can have an apple. Take a lot. Take two."

The other afternoon, at four o'clock, beneath a bower of apple blossoms, Patrolman Boylan and Miss Antoinette Ferrari of Jackson Heights, Queens, were married in quiet little St. John of Arc's church, Jackson Heights.

Blue Canaries at the Crystal Palace

London.—Blue canaries were exhibited at this year's national cage bird show at the Crystal Palace. Another novelty was a fern canary, claimed to be the only specimen of its kind in the world.

Many of the exhibits, including the blue budgerigars known as love birds, which are valued at $150 a pair, were brought to London in special cars, as a precaution against the cold. There were 4,000 birds on view from many parts of the world.

Animals and Applis

Human beings and most animals have only two eyelids. Birds and some reptiles, however, have three, two that move up and down, as do our own, and a third that moves like a curtain from the inner corner over the eyeball.

Dr. Not Losing Money

District No. 1 for several years after they were married.

Arrested Doctor With Gun.

In 1922 he observed Dr. Ross's car in front of his house and he went to the house, entered through the rear door and went into the front room. He saw Dr. Ross and his wife, she was seated on a couch and had her shoes off. Dr. Ross was standing. He appeared nervous and Mr. Elmendorf asked him why he stood. He said the doctor said it was customary to stand when a gentleman entered the room and after some discussion Mr. Elmendorf said he pulled his hand from his pocket and pointing a gun at Dr. Ross ordered him from his house. He told him to leave his wife alone and threatened him if he ever came again unless on professional calls. The doctor left. That was the last Mr. Elmendorf saw Ross at his house except on professional calls until the night of April 7, 1925.

Wife at City Hospital.

Mr. Elmendorf said he was in the barn when Dr. Ross came out and said he had made arrangements at the Kingston City Hospital to remove a wen from Mrs. Elmendorf's neck the following day. Mrs. Elmendorf had gone to the doctor's office that day. Mr. Elmendorf consented and stated that his car was laid up and he would have to use his truck to take his wife. Dr. Ross volunteered to take her. Later, Elmendorf said, he took her to her grandparents' home that night and next morning Dr. Ross took her to the hospital. She was to be home about noon next day. She failed to return and Mr. Elmendorf went to the hospital. He found his wife in bed. They had a conversation. He left and went to the office of Mr. Brinnier and there consulted his lawyer and returned to the hospital where he saw Dr. Ross. He charged Dr. Ross with having had an illegal operation performed on his wife and told him that Mr. Brinnier wanted to see him about it.

Did Not Consult Records.

Witness said Dr. Ross would give him no information about the operation and told him to consult the records. He did not do it. He threatened Dr. Ross and said he would expose him and he threatened to put him to the wall and break him if he could.

Later Dr. Ross took Mrs. Elmendorf to the home of her grandparents and she was there for a time. Mr.

In the Heart of the Newest Gold Rush

These pictures give glimpses of the hectic days that followed the gold rush at Weepah, Nev. The top view shows tents and shacks that have risen where only desert was a few days ago. Note the automobiles, the modern burro. At the left is Frank E. Horton, Sr., his son, Frank, Jr., and his friend, Leonard Traynor. It was these youths that discovered the gold mine that started the rush. At the right is the entrance to their diggin's. The thirteen sacks of ore were valued at $13,000.

Elmendorf went to see her a couple of times.

Mr. Elmendorf said his wife had cried when he pointed the gun at Dr. Ross and also during the conversation at the hospital.

Wife Returned Home.

On a Saturday night after she had been out of the hospital for some time she came with Mrs. Yessie to the Elmendorf house in the evening and demanded to remain there. Mr. Elmendorf said he had said little but he did not want her to stay. She however did stay and that night she and witness remained alone at the place, occupying different rooms. Next day he took her to her grandmother's.

Cross-examined he said he had never told his wife that she must go away until after the lawsuit was over and he had secured money from Dr. Ross. He said he never promised that then he would take her back and divide the money he received from Dr. Ross with her. He never told her he wanted to get some money from Dr. Ross so that he would buy her automobiles and give her things she wanted.

Told To Stay Away.

Harry Hommel was called. He said he was a trustee of the district where Mrs. Elmendorf had taught. He had spoken to Dr. Ross, telling him to stay away from the school where she taught.

Court adjourned until 10 o'clock today, when as stated in another column an adjournment was taken until Monday afternoon out of respect to the memory of Judge James Jenkins.

Bell's Idea for Telephone.

In June, 1875, an accident to one of the experimental "harmonic telegraph" instruments causing a vibration to be reproduced on a similar instrument in the next room gave Alexander Graham Bell the idea for the telephone, says the Dearborn Independent.

Governor to Cut Appropriations

Governor Smith Indicates He Will Cut $2,000,000 from Appropriation Bills So There May Be $4,500,000 Treasury Surplus.

Albany, N. Y., March 15 (AP)—Governor Smith indicated today that he would, by exercising the veto power, cut $2,000,000 from appropriation bills, in order that there might be a surplus of at least $4,500,000 in the state treasury.

The governor's attitude was expressed after he had been informed today that Chairman Charles T. Hewitt of the Senate finance committee and Chairman Eberly Hutchinson of the assembly ways and means committee had stated that the governor had attempted to coerce them into imposing a tax on gasoline.

Governor Smith declared that he had been given no cooperation by the Republican leaders of the legislature. "The only one who knows the meaning of cooperation is Hutchinson," the governor said, "and he does not practice it. He knows the meaning because he is familiar with big words."

The governor said that he would let the Republican legislative leaders take the responsibility of providing additional revenue for state needs. All had agreed he said, that additional revenues must be obtained if the state was to appropriate the $18,500,000 for school purposes asked in the Friedman Bill.

In order to avoid the imposition of the gas tax, he said, the Republican majority in the Legislature intended to make no appropriations for state parks this year.

To Veto Pet Measures.

The governor said that the Republican leaders could not make appropriations that would leave a surplus of only $2,000,000 in the state treasury and that in order that the surplus might be at least $4,500,000 he would veto unnecessary items in the appropriation bill. These items are for local improvements, largely, and are the pet measures of individual legislators.

"I'm going to have Speaker McGinnis down here this afternoon," Governor Smith said, "and I'll lock the doors and we'll have a session like Count Down on the day after St. Patrick's Day."

The governor denied that he had insisted on a gasoline tax. "That was their baby," he said, referring to the Republican leaders. He charged the leaders of the majority with breaking faith with him by abandoning the gasoline tax proposal after all had agreed that new sources of revenue must be developed.

"We must have additional revenues," he said. "Perhaps they will get them by increasing the direct tax on real estate. The state aid for schools next year will have to be ten millions in excess of the Friedman Bill appropriation of this year. There is no institutional bond money available for next year, but the state hospital program can not be stopped. At least $12,500,000 for hospital purposes must be produced next year in cash."

Services at Temple Emanuel.

Milton Katz, graduate of Kingston High School class of 1925, and at present a junior at Columbia University, will deliver an address at Temple Emanuel this evening at 7:30. No Propeller on This Dirigible, Designed by California Inventor

Thomas B. Slate, inventor, is not above doing manual labor on the propellerless airship which he has invented, as the picture at the left shows. The other picture shows his unfinished dirigible under construction at the Glendale, Cal., airport.

At Risk Without a Propeller!

Such is the invention of Thomas B. Slate, inventor.

So confident is he of his conception that he is pouring thousands of dollars into its realization.

The great engines of the Slate dirigible are to dig a tunnel in the air ahead, into which the ship will be drawn as into a vacuum. This is Slate's theory. It is the theory on which he constructed a sixty-foot model which he declares works perfectly and confirms his conception in every detail.

Congress recently authorized the construction of two dirigibles. Slate planned to enter a bid, offering to furnish one of his all-metal propellerless contrivances. It is being completed at the Glendale, Cal., airport, and is to be finished in June next.

Slate's new type airship is equipped with a radical blower in its metal nose, which is designed to remove entirely the air pressure from in front of the ship, virtually transferring the air pressure to the tapering rear, so urging it forward.

The airship under construction is 212 feet in length with maximum diameter of 65 feet. It is built of duralumin by a method which eliminates need for the intricate girders and truss system hitherto used. It has no expensive gas bags. The whole interior is a vast container.

Two reversing engines furnish the power, one on each side of a cabin forward. The complete steam plant, weighing 600 pounds, is entirely outside the ship, but rests inside the metal nose cone.

The gross weight fully loaded and with crew is to be 10,000 pounds and the gross lifting power 14,000, leaving a possible net pay load capacity of 4,000 pounds. Its cruising capacity is estimated at 20 hours at 75 miles an hour.

Slate declared that his invention eliminates any possibility of stress from storm or air currents while flying.

Charged With Reckless Driving.

Earl Houghtaling, attorney of Walden, was arrested by State Troopers at Highland Sunda, charged with reckless driving. The case was adjourned and a hearing will be held later before a justice of the peace of the town of Lloyd.

Ulster Park and New Paltz Clinics

Final arrangements have been completed for two diphtheria clinics to begin in the county soon, one at Ulster Park, the other at New Paltz. The first clinic in the Ulster Park community will be held Saturday, March 19, at the Ulster Park school at 2 p. m. Dr. Laidlaw, district health officer, and Mrs. Mulchay, district nurse, will both be present as will also the two local physicians, Dr. Ross and Dr. Decker, town health officer. More than seventy children are already signed up for this clinic, and others are expected from the surrounding territory.

New Paltz holds its first clinic Friday afternoon, March 25. The clinic will be held at the Normal School beginning at 3 p. m. The local physicians of New Paltz are all cooperating with Miss Jessie T. Prisch, school nurse, to make this clinic a success.

In both the Ulster Park and New Paltz clinics, it is hoped that all children above six months of age living in or near these centers will be present to take the toxin-anti-toxin treatment. Hundreds of children in the county are being immunized against diphtheria and it is the desire of the Ulster County Home Bureau and all cooperating forces to have all children in the county take advantage of these free clinics. For further information call or write the Ulster County Home Bureau, 280 Wall street, Kingston. Telephone 514-J.

Lists Collections Made by Sapiro

Senator Reed Tells Jury in Ford Libel Suit of Some of the Collections Obtained by Aaron Sapiro
From the Cooperative Associations.

Detroit, March 14 (AP).—The thousands of dollars Aaron Sapiro was alleged to have obtained from the cooperative associations he organized were listed for the jury today by Senator James A. Reed in the million dollar libel suit against Henry Ford.

The senator, who is defending the automobile manufacturer against Sapiro, who claims his reputation was injured by stories printed in Ford's publication, the Dearborn Independence, was hurrying to complete his opening plea. He showed irritation at frequent interruptions on the part of the plaintiff's attorney, William Henry Gallagher, and insisted he was cutting the corners at every opportunity.

"Bearing in mind Sapiro's frequent declarations of no desire for large remuneration in organizing these cooperative associations among the farmers," said the senator, "I want to tell you of some of the collections he made."

The largest amount obtained, according to Mr. Reed, was $142,000 from the Tri-State Tobacco Association, and the next largest figure was a total of $48,000 from the Burley Tobacco Association. The senator said Sapiro obtained $6,000 from the potato growers of Colorado, $30,000 from the dark tobacco growers of Kentucky, and $17,500 from the Maine potato cooperative. In Oregon he received $5,500 and from the Carolina peanut growers $5,000, the defense attorney said.

Attorney Gallagher read to the court a ruling made in the Michigan Supreme court on what should be touched upon in an opening statement. Judge Fred M. Raymond said he had had that decision in mind in his frequent warnings to both attorneys and he believed the guilt was equally divided in failure to comply with his request.

PORT EVEN

Port Even, March 18.—Mrs. Arena Elmendorf of Downe street is visiting her daughter, Mrs. William Giles in Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Ella Fairbrother, who has spent the winter with Mrs. Leslie Mott in Esopus, has returned to her home on Green street.

A card party will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. F. Dorr on Stout avenue. Pinochle and Five Hundred will be played. Proceeds for the benefit of the Port Even Library. Every one is invited. Refreshments and prizes.

A large number of people attended the cafeteria supper in the Methodist Church house Thursday evening and the supper was thoroughly enjoyed. The Shamrock Minstrels given by home talent was exceptionally good and was considered by many as one of the best minstrel evenings given in this place. All participating did their parts in an able manner and the singing was up to date and fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Fairbrother of Green street are visiting friends in Niverville, N. Y.

The Willing Workers will hold a card party at the home of Mrs. E. H. Bishop on Broadway Tuesday evening, March 22. Pinochle and Five Hundred will be played. Prizes and refreshments. Anyone wishing to reserve tables should phone 2122-1. Everyone invited.

Sunday morning, March 20, the Rev. W. F. Stowe, of the Church of the Comforter of Kingston will occupy the pulpit of the Reformed Church. As Mr. Stowe is well acquainted with the members of the church it is hoped there will be a good attendance at this service. In the evening the Rev. George Wood of Leeds, N. Y., will occupy the pulpit. As this Sunday is the regular Sunday for the every member canvass, the men of the congregation are requested to meet at the church at 2 o'clock to canvass. All members of the congregation are requested to remain at home to receive the canvassers when they call.

About the Folks

John Atkins was removed from his home, 212 Foxhall avenue, to the Benedictine Hospital in the city ambulance Thursday evening.

Jerre Follette of 284 Fair street, who had a slight paralytic stroke a few weeks ago, is able to be about the street again, being very much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Sturgeon of 14 East St. James street have returned home after spending the winter in Florida. They visited the many points of interest throughout the south and report a very pleasant journey with mild weather.

Judge James A. Butts celebrated his seventy-fourth birthday anniversary today, remembering his own friends and acquaintances with cigars and the young women friends of the county clerk's, surrogate's and law offices with chocolate candies.

Shining in Olden Times

The Broom began shining to the Star 100 B. C., according to historical records. The idea is believed to have come from Sicily, but it was as late as 1700 A. D. before shining the head became fashionable in France.

Coterie Meeting Postponed.
Owing to the open meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs on Saturday afternoon of this week, the regular meeting of The Coterie will be postponed to Saturday, March 26, when the members will meet with Mrs. Watts.

A Miscellaneous Shower.
A miscellaneous shower was tendered Miss Bertha M. Randall of Mt. Tremper Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Moe at Mt. Pleasant in honor of her approaching marriage to Kenneth C. Warren of Cold Brook. Miss Randall was the recipient of many handsome and appropriate gifts. During the evening a mock marriage ceremony was performed much to the amusement of the guests. Very appropriately attired for the occasion the Rev. Charles Ross appeared in the role of bride; Miss Dorothy Ingerson, bridegroom; Raymond Ingerson, best man; and Ben Moe, officiant. The bride "donated" her only daughter; Ben Moe was best man and Miss Grace Randall was bridesmaid while Donald Warren was flower girl. Orrville Every took the part of the parson. Refreshments were served and the guests departed after extending to Miss Randall best wishes for the future. Gifts were presented from Kingston, Arkville, Ashokan, Cold Brook, Phoenicia, Mt. Tremper and Mt. Pleasant.

The funeral of Mrs. Louis Untermyer was held from her late home, 345 F. & A. M. Building, Kingston, N. Y., on Thursday, March 15, at 2 p. m. The Rev. J. P. Neumann, pastor of the Episcopal church, officiated. The services were very largely attended by her many relatives and friends. There being also a large delegation from the Society of Christian Workers in attendance. The floral tributes were many and beautiful. The bearers were Louis Brider, John Winter, Dominic Newman, Frank Leary, Coleman McDonough and Michael McDonough. Interment was in the family plot in St. Peter's cemetery where the committal services were conducted by the Rev. Father Neumann.

is survived by one sister, Mrs. Corbellio Peterson. Funeral from the late home on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the interment to be in the family plot in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Louis A. DuBois, who died suddenly in Los Angeles on March 12, was the son of the late Elijah DuBois and Eleanor Ver Planck Overbaugh DuBois, his wife, and was born in this city. Mr. DuBois received his early education here, being prepared for college at a small preparatory school conducted in this city at that time by Professor Starr. Later Mr. DuBois attended Rutgers College, graduating in the class of 1879, after which he took up the study of law and was for a number of years connected with the firm of Boardman and Boardman, New York city. Returning to Kingston, he was engaged for some years in the insurance business with his brother, Charles V. DuBois. For the past ten or twelve years Mr. DuBois has resided in Los Angeles, where his death occurred. In 1890 he was married to Miss Hattie Bond, daughter of Henry Bond of this city. Besides his widow, he is survived by one brother, C. V. DuBois, and two sisters, Mrs. Daniel E. Keyser and Mrs. Charles H. De La Vergne, all of this city. The funeral will be held at the residence of Mrs. De La Vergne at the convenience of the family on Saturday afternoon, the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seelye officiating. Interment will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Program Changes at Reade's.

Marty Dupree and her Musical Follies made another big hit with a large audience at Reade's Kingston Theatre when they presented their initial performance for the latter half of the week Thursday. A number of one-minute sketches were given and received much applause from the audience. Denny Drolan, principal comedian of the Follies, has made a very favorable impression as a comedian during his stay here. The picture in conjunction with the Follies is "The Red Mill" in which Marion Davies is the star. Owen Moore plays the leading masculine role. The story is one of the Netherlands and contains many scenes of the country built on dykes.

Combination of Laces, This Season's characteristic, is consistent with a tendency to use two materials instead of one.

The Atlantic, en route Naples New York.—Gold lace may have an ostentatious sound, but the haute couture have contrived to introduce it this season.

Its elegance rather than undue instances, a dress otherwise of all black. Chantilly lace was brightened by the skillful addition of gold lace, which appeared to be part of the Chantilly, so beautifully was it applied over the shoulders and in a wide deep girdle. The use of two, or even three, kinds of lace in one dress is a feature borrowed from the days when the lingerie robe was a requisite to the contentment of any woman of fashion.

The interesting combination of sheer and heavy lace is one of the season's features. It is consistent with the general tendency to combine materials and colors. A tendency that has outlived one season and is sure to outlast this one.

FOR THE FAMILY MEAL

A good nourishing drink which you need not fear to give to the little people in the family, is barley coffee. Prepare it by roasting until a deep brown, then grind it and use it as coffee, adding a tablespoonful to a cupful of water. Serve with sugar and cream. This is a nourishing drink to serve fever patients when recovering.

Fruit Cake.—Take one cupful of bread sponge, one cupful of currants, one cupful of dates, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of figs, one cupful of raisins, one cupful each of eggs and citrons, one cupful of flour and one-half cupful of shortening. Mix all together with the bread sponge. Dissolve one teaspoonful of soda in a tablespoonful of water, then add one teaspoonful each of cloves and cinnamon. Let rise for three hours or until light. Bake one hour in a moderate oven.

Fruit Salad.—Remove the skin and seeds from a cupful of white grapes. Cut three bananas into small cubes and cover with lemon juice. Cut six oranges into small pieces and mix with the salad dressing. Arrange in nests of lettuce and garnish with mayonnaise dressing.

Steamed Chocolate Pudding.—Beat one egg, add one-half cupful of sugar, one cupful of milk, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one cupful of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and one square of chocolate melted in one tablespoonful of water. Steam twenty minutes. This makes eight small puddings.

Sauce for Chocolate Pudding.—Separate the whites and yolks of two eggs and beat well, add one-fourth of a cupful of sugar, a teaspoonful of vanilla and a pinch of salt to the beaten yolks, then fold in the beaten whites; cook over hot water until steaming hot. Add the vanilla after taking the sauce from the heat.

Children's Dessert.—Steam as many slices of bread as needed, butter well and pour over them a hot sauce of canned fruit, such as raspberries, blueberries, or any kind that is at hand. Serve hot with or without cream.

Shaded Fringe Is Favored in Paris

Diagonal Line Also Much in Limelight and Makes a Charming Gown.

Once upon a time it was a heart-breaking thing to belong to the fringes of society. This season no society is complete without a great number of fringes. All Paris is using them and America is beginning to follow suit. Vionnet, Chanel and Molyneux are among the creators who are retiring to the clustered recesses where they dream great things, and return with fringes developed in a way lesser geniuses never thought of.

Who but Chanel would have evolved shaded fringes? And how strikingly beautiful they are! Two-toned and all ombre effects are so well thought of this season that printed fringes naturally follow the mode. A stunning dinner gown of valencia blue flat crepe has the skirt of shaded blue fringe, with a cleverly arranged scarf, edged with fringe.

Scarfs, by the way, to achieve smartness today must be related to the costume. A scarf which is merely there because it is there is passe. One model has a bertha collar of fringe across the front, with a scarf effect of fringe at the back.

Vionnet's masterpiece is a gown of Grecian type, straight and slim, and very simple in effect. This is the aim of all smart houses—to give a simple silhouette and still be exceedingly elaborate in detail. Again we find shaded fringes, this time in rose, used for tier after tier, narrower at the top and some 12 inches deep at the hem. Nothing else but fringes compose these tiers. You can easily vision the shimmering, slinky movements of the wearer.

The diagonal line is very good this season. And this is where fringes are at their best. Two tiers drawn diagonally across the skirt, with a third forming the bodice from one bare shoulder to the hip, is a recipe for a very up-to-the-minute and daintily charming gown. If black is the color chosen, the bracelets may be of emeralds, which are the reigning stone of the season. And if enough bracelets are used, no other color relief need be had, although one such model has a slender line of green used as a girdle.

Very fine platings are being used a great deal this season. These are frequently so closely done that one must look twice to be sure they are not fringes. Tiers either of platings or fringes are greatly favored, perhaps with a determined effort to get away from the kick plaits of so many seasons.

It is somewhat of a shock to find fringes used even for sports costumes. A trim little model with a bloused upper portion is done in rose marie crepe, with a fringed skirt. Another, of the new fifteen, has 10 inches of fringe over each hip. Certainly no hint of stiffness or lack of freedom here.

One decidedly clever move, if we are to have fringes for sports, is the fashion of turning the edges under. This not only stops fraying, which the best of fringes will indulge in, but it gives a weight which is invaluable in holding them in place.

Tricotine Crepe-Paper
Flowers—Boutonnieres

Like all accessories of present mode, the boutonniere which milady wears on the lapel of her coat or the shoulder bouquet on her frock, is expected to either match the costume or to artfully contrast it, so as to add "the touch that tells." Making one's own corsage bouquets is the latest fad among women who are deft at handcraft. These tricotine crepe-paper flowers, as they are called, are as handsome as the expensive tinsel and metal flowers one buys. Wherever metal and fancy dress fabrics are sold, there are also beds French silver or gold tricotine, which is really a transparent tissue. The idea is brief, is to stretch this colorless tissue glittering tissue over each double-folded strip of crepe-paper, before working it into petals and leaves.

Sagein Wraps

Fashioning with a variety of lights in a new evening wrap made entirely of silver sequins. The lining is of pink velvet and there are collar and deep cuffs of white fur.

Quaint Turkish Customs

In remote parts of Turkey many quaint customs are still in practice. In spite of the modernized influences that have been instilled, in case of a death the townsfolk will assemble the news through the streets.

Charge It, Please!

How much easier and more pleasant it is to say that than to carry large sums of money in your purse and to have to wait for change.

This, however, is not the only advantage of a charge account. Owning one here, you need only telephone if you wish a garment called for or delivered or an adjustment made.

The third reason we urge you to open an account with us is that charge patrons receive advance notices of important sales events enabling them to make satisfactory selections before stocks are picked over by the general public.

Saranac Lake Hotel Destroyed

Saranac Lake, N. Y. March 16 (AP)—The St. Armand Hotel summer hotel, one mile from Saranac Lake was totally destroyed by fire with a loss of $50,000 at 3 o'clock this morning. William R. Vosburgh, owner, and his wife, the only occupants, were awakened by smoke in their bedroom and barely had time to escape.
Aid was summoned from this village and a truck was sent pumping water from the Saranac river nearby. Firemen directed three streams into the blaze and onto outlying buildings and cottages, all of which were saved.
Defective wiring in the basement was thought to have been the cause. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

New York to Paris Flight Still Challenges Conquerors of Space

The route to be taken by Lieutenant-Commander Noel Davis (left) on his proposed non-stop flight from New York to Paris is shown on the map at the top. Above, mechanics are shown working on one of the giant gas tanks for his plane. Note the huge landing wheel.
NEW YORK to Paris by air in a non-stop flight may be a fact accomplished early this summer, and the Raymond Orteig prize, $25,000, for this aviation feat, be won after its eight years of existence without a successful effort to span the Atlantic in the 2,600-mile air voyage between the two great cities.
Lieutenant-Commander Noel Davis, U. S. Naval Reserve Air Service, will attempt the flight early in June under the auspices of the American Legion, whose name his airplane, a Huff-Daland "Pathfinder," now under construction at Bristol, Pa., will bear.
The flight will be financed by the New York Non-Stop Flight Corporation, capitalized at $100,000, contributed by manufacturers, by volunteer popular subscriptions and by sale of American Legion post-cards throughout the camps which the American Legion plane will carry to Paris for delivery during the Legion's convention there.
The pilot and all the crew must be naval fliers and members of the American Legion, some of them not yet chosen.
The start is to be made at Mitchell Field, Long Island, and the shortest airline course followed—over Boston, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, the Atlantic Ocean, Land's End, England, the English Channel and above the River Seine to Paris.
Davis expects his plane to carry 1,500 gallons of gasoline, stay aloft fifty-four hours, and complete the voyage in calm air in forty-two hours, or in thirty-five if the breeze is of favoring winds. The plane is designed to carry, with full load, 16,500 pounds, or less than fifteen pounds to the square foot.
The Sikorsky S-35 plane, in which Captain Rene Fonck failed to complete a similar trip last year, carried more than twenty-six pounds per square foot of lifting surface.
Captain Fonck is expected to try again this year in a new Sikorsky-built plane. Commander Richard E. Byrd, of North Pole flight fame, has announced that he will attempt the New York-Paris flight this summer, and there are others preparing to contest for the prize.
In the plant of the Keystone Aircraft Corporation at Bristol, Pa., work on the Davis-American Legion plane is expected to be completed next month and its pilot will spend several weeks in testing it.
It will be equipped with three Wright Whirlwind motors, each of 240 horse power, and is of the highly tested and approved bombing type. The upper and lower planes are of the same size and have a spread of sixty-seven feet, with twelve feet width.
Raymond Orteig, donor of the $25,000 prize, is proprietor of the La Fayette and the Brevoort hotels in New York.
